

THE WATER SUPPLY.

Breaks Very Near Shore in the Intake Pipe.

MR. CRAIG'S LATE EXAMINATION.

What Should be, and Will be, Done to Investigate the Matter.

Certain facts have come to the knowledge of The Herald regarding the condition of the intake pipe of the city water works, which although they do not warrant the absolute certainty of a direct investigation of the condition of the pipe, yet certainly warrant a grave suspicion as to its condition.

A gentleman of this city who is well acquainted with the divers who have been hired to put in the water mains between Duluth and Superior at the time the Duluth Gas and Water company had undertaken the contract of supplying Superior with water had been present in Duluth on the day when the pipe was broken, and he had seen the water coming out of the pipe. He has learned from the employees of the gas and water company, I am confident that the water taken into the intake pipe at that point not more than ninety feet from the shore.

"It is a curious fact the gas and water company has to patch the pipe about twice as often as it ought to with the ordinary work and tear. I am confident that this is so because the water is not pumped over into the lake, near the pump house, as is taken right back into the pumps. Besides this, I know that when the water is the least storm on the lake or whenever the surface water in the lake gets that yellow muddy color, which we all are so familiar with, there are very many buildings in this city which get water in about the condition of soap suds. Now the intake pipe is presumably out 45 feet in the lake and 45 feet below the surface. It is likely that the water at that depth is subject to the storms and muddy condition of the surface. Ocean waves only affect water within a few feet of the surface. There appears to be but just two hours of the day when the water is clear. It is likely that the water pipe close to the shore or else the pipe is not yet run out far enough to insure the intake of clear water. These last sentences I know disprove reasoning processes and are not facts learned by investigation but they are conclusions and I am in possession of oral statements which I could give to the public without disclosing any confidential informant's name and establish my statements without a personal investigation.

A Herald reporter visited Mr. Craig, the superintendent of the gas and water company, and asked him what he knew of the condition of the intake pipe. He said:

"I know it to be all right, because I investigated it last fall and found it all right."

The reporter asked him if he had examined it by divers and he said he had not, but that some of the divers had made the investigation. As regards the fact that Duluth got muddy water, Mr. Craig asserted that it was the duty of the gas and water company to get their water supply from the lake occasionally could get nothing but muddy water, but they are conclusive with an intake pipe out one and a quarter miles and Chicago with an intake pipe out two miles and Duluth with an intake pipe out one and a quarter miles, however, are over 13 1/2 feet below the surface at the city where the water is taken in, while at Duluth it is claimed to be 45 feet. Even if the pipe is whole and sound, it seems to be the duty of the gas and water company to run the pipe out to such a depth that no surface drainage and muddy water will get into the intake pipe.

People before whom the facts in the water were laid, state that instead of sending out specimens of water for chemical analysis, the common council, or the board of public works, or the gas and water company, or somebody, whose duty it is to look after the public health, should see that a diver is employed to examine thoroughly our intake water pipe and that the diver is to have it run out in the lake to a point where no surface water can possibly get into it. The pipe should be neither chemically nor microscopically examined can determine much.

There are but one or two bacterial agents in the water which can identify the dangerous bacteria. The science of bacteriology is in its infancy, and the best men in its study can identify only a few dangerous organisms out of the countless millions which through the air, earth and atmosphere, are everywhere.

At a recent meeting of the common council, place, suppose dangerous organisms were discovered, it would not suggest a remedy except perhaps the boiling of all Duluth, which would be very unsatisfactory.

The following approximate estimates will cover the cost of the tunnel and its approaches, not including land damages for the cost of railroad tracks or pavement. The estimates show a cost, if the canal portion is built with caissons and the approaches by freezing, $1,140,330. If built in the same way providing, but one tunnel gallery for railroad purposes, it will cost $881,435. Total cost built by the caisson method entirely, $1,238,330. Total cost built by the caisson method entirely providing but one tunnel gallery for railroad purposes, $890,430.

The great value and importance of a tunnel under the canal across Minnesota Point is made evident by a study of the topography of Duluth and its surroundings, considering the city just as it is, without taking into account its prospective growth and commercial development. Minnesota Point is seven miles long and about one-half mile wide, having an area equal to 3000 1/2 feet. It would afford twenty miles of dock front, if cut into slips. The tunnel will make this land as easily accessible as land in Ontario, which is now worth unimproved $1000 per lot. Chilling the present value of lots on Minnesota Point $400 each, this would represent a total increase of value due to the tunnel of $5,000,000, which would yield $1000 per annum in taxes at 2 per cent. This sum will pay interest at 4 per cent on $2,500,000, which is not more than double the present value of the land. A direct assessment of $100 per lot, equal to $500,000 on the entire territory of Minnesota Point, would be burdensome, especially if spread over three or four years.

What is the matter with the land? We have a fine tract of all the latest designs and colorings. Our special patterns are the nearest approach to hand work that can be found in the city. J. J. Foster & Co., No. 12 and 14, Second avenue west.

WEST DULUTH.

The West Duluth skating rink will hereafter be open every pleasant evening.

W. H. Short is acting as druggist for Nelson & Co. for a few days while Druggist Vold is in St. Paul.

Le S. Thomas is back from St. Paul and reports that the people in that place are with us in our city fight, and that everything is looking bright for a cluster.

The ticket agent can now sell 500 and 1000 mile tickets at two and one-half cents a mile.

Messrs. Grant, Yeager and Peterson left last night for St. Paul and will be absent several days.

L. S. Thomas this morning received the following letter in reply to one written by him to the contract for the stand in favor of West Duluth:

"My Dear Sir—I am glad to find that the people of West Duluth approve of the course I took with reference to the annexation of their city to Duluth. I think it is just and right that all the territory affected should have the right to vote upon the question."

A Pleasant Reception.

The Maconic reception and banquet given by the Maconic lodge, No. 125, in the new lodge building, last evening, was the most brilliant affair of the kind ever held in the place.

About 100 couples were present, including many from Duluth and West Superior. A short introductory speech was made by St. Paul, introducing Worshipful Master Burdette, who then welcomed the guests to the banquet.

Mr. Burdette, Professor Danford, of Duluth, spoke for a few minutes on "Fraternalism," after which the guests adjourned to the lower floor, where an elegant banquet was spread.

Toastmaster Hammond then called upon D. M. De Vore, who responded by "Welcome." Dr. Huntton responded to "The Ladies," G. J. Malloy, "West Duluth Lodge," when the degree of Master was conferred on G. J. Malloy, "The Ladies Lodge."

After the banquet, speeches were made by the speakers, and the evening closed with a musical performance.

At the request of many friends, I hereby announce myself to be an independent candidate for alderman of the Sixth ward at the next city election.

M. C. LITVETZKY.

THE TUNNEL.

Gen. Smith Submits His Formal Report to the City.

Yesterday afternoon the board of works received from Gen. Wm. S. Smith the plans of the proposed canal and tunnel. There is but little in the plans or accompanying report not already familiar to Herald readers except the cost, which is less than has been estimated.

The requirements of the building, the nature of the soil and the requirements of the canal and tunnel, are such as to point to the freezing or the pneumatic process, either of which may be adopted throughout the whole work or any part of it. The tunnel can be built by the use of both methods, the pneumatic process being best for that part of the canal and to a distance of twenty-five feet on each side. For the remainder of the canal and tunnel, the pneumatic process is preferable.

The designs require the construction and sinking to the requisite depth of three pneumatic caissons, 100 feet long and 70 feet wide, each surrounded by strong coffer dams to reach the bottom.

The following approximate estimates will cover the cost of the tunnel and its approaches, not including land damages for the cost of railroad tracks or pavement. The estimates show a cost, if the canal portion is built with caissons and the approaches by freezing, $1,140,330. If built in the same way providing, but one tunnel gallery for railroad purposes, it will cost $881,435. Total cost built by the caisson method entirely, $1,238,330. AFFAIRS DISREPUTABLE.

A Condition That Would Credit the Wisconsin Slums.

TOUGH HURLEY IN ITS MEYDAY

Reproduced in the Scenes Enacted in the Dives up the River.

A disreputable state of affairs exists up the river this winter. The plating of iron, New Duluth and St. Louis, brought to those points hundreds of workmen, who are now laboring on the many improvements that the land companies are making. Men such as these are always prey for a certain class of vultures.

For several months past there have existed dives of the vilest description near the new towns. These resorts are the very worst of their kind. Drinks of concoctions from the most poisonous of liquors, fatal to an ordinary stomach, are served, and the most vile and disgusting scenes are enacted. The dives are held in out of the way Western places, are the disgraceful nightly occurrence.

Every night the revelry goes on. Fights are numerous and bloody. A night or two ago a severe battle was fought in one of these dives. A gang of lumbermen and laborers were the combatants, and a gentleman who was compelled to go by the place yesterday reports that it looked as though a pitched battle had taken place, for the saloon room was deserted—was covered with blood and the outside looked like a battle field.

But the men who run these joints are possessed of a certain low and brutal cunning. Of late they have become more taken with the idea of erecting their hell holes on the ice exactly over the Wisconsin and Minnesota borders. They are free from arrest, if the sheriff of only one state is to break them up in business. Until recently, whisky selling has been the trade of these dives, and the men who are now indulging in even a more evil traffic, and are now engaged in wheeling the saloons from the pockets of the lumbermen and laborers. Men who go into these dives with money generally come out penniless and if not robbed are lucky.

The places are a blot upon the face of Wisconsin and Minnesota. They are breeding places of sin and the houses of unbecomable wickedness. They have all the studies, gradation in which means the slums and disgraceful death.

The Father Mathew Meeting.

The entertainment given last evening in Catholic Association hall under the auspices of the F. M. T. A. society was a success in every particular. The hall was well filled and the entire program was well rendered.

An eloquent address was delivered by Rev. Laurence Cosgrove of St. Paul, on the benefits of temperance. He related several examples of men who had been rescued from the clutches of the devil by the power of the Father Mathew Society.

NO KID NOW.

The Youngest Soldier? Apparently Not so. C. Perry Hyam, "the youngest soldier of the civil war," is in trouble again. We say "again," for C. Perry is none other than the erstwhile C. P. Hyam, so well known in Duluth. He was in the South Duluth division and narrowly escaped the fate that overtook his comrades, Partello and Tall, and was afterwards in the St. Paul fraudulent mortgage sales. He has just been arrested in Chicago, charged with having been mixed up in a crooked real estate transaction. His photographs have been sold over the entire country on the claim that he was only 9 years and 8 months old when he went into the army.

He is said to have been operating in Chicago with Henry Hart, formerly a wealthy board of trade man. It is estimated that the operations of the men named, together with the transactions of the number of their victims will exceed a dozen. It is charged that Hyam bought a tract of land in East Chicago, paid a small amount on it and secured an abstract of title, and began to advertise desirable lots for sale. Hart negotiated the sales, and most of the transactions were in the way of swamping these lots for saloons, grocery stores, etc. As soon as these parties were secured they were mortgaged and the business allowed to run itself. It was out of the proceeds of the mortgages that the money was made.

The story came out through a Mrs. Graves of St. Paul, who says she came over the sales, and most of the transactions were in the way of swamping these lots for saloons, grocery stores, etc. As soon as these parties were secured they were mortgaged and the business allowed to run itself. It was out of the proceeds of the mortgages that the money was made.

"What's the matter, Tommie?" "Pa, my po-po-pony has cut-out his foot." "Pshaw! don't fret, papa has got a new one for you." "Van Houten's cocoa—once tried, always used."

WORLD OF COMMERCE.

Money and Stock Situation in New York Today.

PRICES FOR WHEAT IN DULUTH.

Chicago, Minneapolis and Foreign Markets; Trade Notes of General Interest.

The market opened weak today at a decline of from $\frac{1}{8}$ to $\frac{1}{4}$ as compared with yesterday's closing prices. No trading was done during the first hour, but prices advanced $\frac{1}{8}$ on futures before the first trade was made. There was good demand here for milling wheat.

No. 1 northern in store sold late at 90 $\frac{1}{2}$ and lost $\frac{1}{8}$ before the close. Cash 2 northern closed at 85 $\frac{1}{2}$. No. 2 northern closed at 84 $\frac{1}{2}$ and 92 $\frac{1}{2}$ for No. 1 hard and No. 1 northern grades. May wheat opened one hour late at 90 $\frac{1}{2}$ for No. 1 hard and advanced before 10 o'clock with a steady demand and bullish news up to 100 $\frac{1}{2}$ at which sales were made in the last quarter hour it dropped closing at \$1 bid. The demand was active. May No. 1 northern ruled bid selling late at 90 and closing at the same figure. January wheat sold early at 94 for No. 1 hard and closed at 94 $\frac{1}{2}$. January No. 1 northern closed strong with bidders at 91c. The close was an advance of from $\frac{1}{8}$ to $\frac{1}{4}$ cent all around for the day except in May and January No. 1 northern which advanced $\frac{1}{8}$ and $\frac{1}{4}$ respectively.

The closing prices were as follows:

	Cash Jan. 1	May
No. 1 hard	94 $\frac{1}{2}$	94 $\frac{1}{2}$

Inspection: Cash No. 1 hard 2; No. 1 northern, 9; No. 1 white winter wheat, 3; total, 14.

Chicago Markets. CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—Wheat started out rather weak. The wires were in trouble and the trade was made up almost exclusively of local business. Receipts of wheat here were 33 cars more than expected; receipts at Duluth and Minneapolis were large at 245 cars. There was a heavy rain fall—1.08 inches at San Diego, Cal., and the blizzard that was looked for did not come.

May Wheat started at 90 $\frac{1}{2}$. It sold to 90 $\frac{1}{2}$ under liberal bidding by Baldwin-Parrish and Mitchell. May corn started at 52 $\frac{1}{2}$; May oats 53 $\frac{1}{2}$; May pork 81 $\frac{1}{2}$; Lard 80 $\frac{1}{2}$; and May ribs 81 $\frac{1}{2}$.

A Soap Maker. Among the enterprises seeking sites at the head of the lakes is one for the manufacture of soap. The head of this institution is a gentleman formerly connected with the Proctor & Gamble company. The proposed plant has a daily capacity of 240 gallons. High grade soap are to be made.

Cost Less, Date Later. It is not probable, so says an electrician, that any improvements will be made in the transmission of electric power from the St. Louis river this year. More recent estimates have, however, brought the cost of the transmission down to $300,000, and it is possible that the work may be decided upon later.

Notice. To the Editor of The Herald: I desire to state that I have not withdrawn as a candidate for alderman for the Third ward.

I am grateful to the Tribune for its favorable notice of my candidacy, but it is mistaken in its statement that I have withdrawn. I have consulted legal authority and am assured that I am fully eligible, and am therefore before the voters of the Third ward for alderman, and respectfully solicit their votes at the coming municipal election.

POSSIBLY SEVERAL MILLS.

Projects Now Maturing for the Establishment of Flour Mills.

With the financial situation straightened out as it should be, Duluth will see some big developments in its flouring industry this season. At present there are three large milling companies figuring on the erection of mills at the head of the lakes.

For one of these land has been offered both at Duluth and West Superior, but the project has not yet decided upon a site. For two others, respectively of 3,000 and 1,000 barrels daily capacity, sites in Duluth have been offered and will probably be accepted. The head of one of these two concerns, which already has several mills in operation, has just left Duluth on his way to England to close the deal and obtain official authority from his English directors.

WHERE'S OUR ICE.

Now Little Probability that Any Crop for Household Use Can be Had.

Another mouth of this weather, and the Lake Superior ice crop will prove a failure. No ice for household purposes has yet been gathered at the head of the lakes, although a large quantity has been cut for storage and packing purposes.

For all this ice men do not anticipate a failure of the usual crop. We may have tropical winter weather up here now, but the time from November to April, yet at intervals the signal bureau records cold enough days for ice to form thick enough to become of commercial value. "I hardly think we have a right to cry ice famine yet," said a prominent dealer this morning. "Several times at this season of the year Lake Superior has had clear water, and I believe we will have cold enough weather yet to give us 30-inch ice."

PLEASANT WEDDING.

Miss Smith and Mr. Baillie are Married This Morning.

A charming wedding was held at the home of Colby Smith on East Third street this morning at 11 o'clock, friends and relatives gathering to the nuptials of Miss Gertrude C. Smith to William E. Baillie. Miss Smith is one of the popular young ladies of Duluth, while Mr. Baillie has for several years been connected with the architectural firm of Trapagen & Fitzpatrick. Among the many presents was a silver tea set from Mr. Baillie's employers. The happy couple went East on the 1:55 St. Paul & Duluth train.

The Norse Musical.

Some of the best music Duluth has heard in a long time was made last night at the Norse club's musical. There are few instrumentalists in Duluth equal to some of those who took part, and the occasion was extremely enjoyable. The program was as follows:

Messrs. Trautvetter, Ketchum and "Tom" Romance for "cello."
Serenade, flute, cello and piano.
Messrs. Kretschmar, Flaten and Tonnin. Violin solo.
Mr. Trautvetter.
Quartet for flute, violin, cello and piano.
Messrs. Trautvetter, Kretschmar, Flaten and Tonnin.

After the program dancing was indulged in by the club and its invited guests till about 10:30 o'clock.

A Music Recital.

THE NEW DUNCAN MILL

To Be One of the Best Mills in the Duluth Districts.

AS TO UP RIVER TOUGH DIVES

A Bad Lot of Them Should be Suppressed at Once; Lively Local News.

The Duncan Brewer & Co. saw mill at Onocota is being rushed along to completion as fast as possible. The roof will go on the week, and it was only thirty days ago that they commenced driving piles for the foundation. It will be able to cut 18,000,000 feet of lumber annually, running a circular saw and a band saw. The boilers and engines are being manufactured by the Iron Works company. The machinery for the mill is being purchased by the Iron Works company. The mill will be finished to completion so that a full season's work from 18,000,000 to 18,000,000 feet can be cut this year. A lath and shingle mill of large capacity will be in connection with the mill. All the modern improvements in the matter of carriages and steam feed works will be in connection with the mill. The best that money and experience can secure.

The dry kilns and planing mills will not be expected until next spring. It will be one of the most convenient of these mills at the head of the lakes, although not the largest.

UP RIVER DIVES

Let the Law Get After Them With Strong Hand.

The Herald did not show in half strong enough light the condition of affairs at the dives up the river. Not only are there dives near the new townships, but the keepers of such holes are bringing their dirty traffic nearer the city. There are at least a dozen of these places strung between this city and Fond du Lac. The first one is situated on a piece of land in Wisconsin, directly south of the city of Duluth. This place has been erected for the patronage of lumbermen and railroad laborers who are working in that vicinity. It is a place where the dives are being supplied with women.

Further back in the woods, near a lumber camp, is another of these places. South from Spirit Lake on the Wisconsin side of the river, are several dives. They are as low and vile as the one so far known. The land companies between West Duluth and Fond du Lac on both sides of the river have been unable to rid their neighborhood of these resorts, which are disgraceful even to sailors.

ALONG THE LINE.

Gravelers Probably Put to Work on the Red Wing Road Soon.

The Duluth, Red Wing & Southern has not been inactive while the Duluth & Winnipeg, the Lake Superior and the Rainy Lake roads were arranging for building. Plans for this season's work have practically been arranged, and the 1892 trains will be running into Duluth over the Red Wing route. Graveling will begin early in April. As the Herald stated some time ago, it is the intention of the Red Wing to extend to Sioux City, where the Pueblo & Duluth will have their main line.

Earnings of Duluth Roads.

The gross earnings of the Duluth & Iron Range railroad, according to the statement just made to the state auditor for the year ending Dec. 31, 1890, were $1,114,778.00, of which $504,227.69 was for freight; $103,324.14 for passengers and the remainder miscellaneous. Of this the state receives $22,223.57. The Duluth & Winnipeg has paid into the state treasury the sum of $22.40 as a tax upon its gross earnings from Jan. 1, 1890, to Dec. 31, 1890, and $200.05 as a tax on the same in 1891.

Baptist Social.

A largely attended gathering of the members of the church and congregation of Baptist church took place last evening. After the pastor (Rev. George H. Kemp) had given a short address, S. A. Gierhart, L. J. Cooke, C. P. Grady, Mrs. E. S. Uphan, Miss Allen, followed with speeches on interesting topics. Refreshments were afterwards served by the ladies. The meeting proved very pleasant and profitable.

of Minnesota, has filed articles of incorporation with the secretary of state. Its capital stock is $25,000. The principal place of business is at Duluth, and the incorporators are H. W. Coffin, Amos L. Warner and I. H. Coffin, all of this city.

Amusement News.

After being dark two weeks Temple Opera opens tonight with "U & I" Williams and Kelly, comedians. As a Dutch comedian, Williams is unexcelled, and Kelly is an exponent of true Irish fun. The company surrounding these stars is an excellent one.

WILLIAMS' ERROR.

The Dutch Comedian and the Bad Mistake He Made.

Gus Williams, the comedian, was tendered a benefit in Boston in 1872. He was a great favorite in that city. The benefit was to occur on Friday evening of the week. Along about Wednesday John Stetson, who was manager of the theater where Gus was playing, approached the comedian on the quiet and said: "Gus, my boy, your friends here are to present you with a watch at your benefit next Friday evening. I didn't want you to be broken up when they came upon the stage with it, so I thought I would tell you, confidentially, what was in the wind. Now you can write up a neat little speech for the occasion and prepare yourself for the occasion."

BILL NYE ON INDIANS.

A Few Remarks About Barbarians in General.

EL MAHDI HELD UP AS AN EXAMPLE.

The Indian Ghost Dance; The Power of Advertising; Some Fetching Costumes.

(Copyrighted by Edgar W. Nye.)

The painful and strained relations between the United States government and the red brother have prompted a long and rather interesting letter, which I have not room for this morning, but which goes on to make a great many inquiries regarding the Indian and his wild notions on religious matters, especially as to the ghost dance and the coming of a dark-skinned Messiah.

All barbarous tribes have, at times, been greatly excited and overworked upon these questions, and, as a matter of fact, if we could know of all that is happening among the barbarians of the universe, no doubt, the religious craze is not having full swing among those people who have not the blessings of the true and only religious light. How thankful ought we to be that we were born in a land where, to make these fool breaks, is a matter of impossibility!

STAKING THEIR FISTS AT THE ENEMY.

It is not many years since the great fakir, El Mahdi, burst upon the vision of the Orient, clothed in a small dilly, and announced himself as the Messiah, for whom his people had been so long looking. And where is El Mahdi today? Where are all the tattered and tattered of profane history?

El Mahdi was a shrewd youth, even in the days when he snarled sukkers along the White Nile. His mind was active and his thoughts profound. He early saw that the weak side of a man was his love of the supernatural. His Deluge side, as one may say. So he said to himself: "I will educate myself and prepare myself for but one object. The Messiah business is what might be called a cinch. I will arrange to appear at the proper time for the purpose of playing a return engagement."

Mahdi was about the color of a successful neerschump in those days, with bright black eyes and a face that weathered by being in the sun. He was older and lived in a cave by himself, ostensibly fasting.

Time went by and El grew to manhood, still keeping his finger on the public pulse, and knowing that some day time would be ripe for his appearance. Living patiently for months in a deserted cellar, or in summer time fasting in a cave in the mountains rarely eating anything, unless perhaps a katydid and the milk of a wild ass on Tuesdays and Fridays, all the time crucifying the flesh, and thus attracting attention, he soon reached manhood, and with the budding of his delightful whiskers he began to cultivate the press and to get himself written up in the society columns.

Pretty soon he began to prophesy a little. Having a private in his army, he was able to predict the arrival of British troops about a week ahead, and thus his business grew to be a good thing. Many a night he had to sit up and prophesy long after other people were in bed asleep. This did not matter, for he was a prophet, and he could do it all night.

Though Mohammed Achmed—his real name before he went West—was in the case of a petty cheat, and therefore nobody seriously at the age of 40 years his mirror still told him that he was strangely beautiful. In the flush of manly health, robust and in the pink of condition, though trained to fast, he had a good appetite, by eating nothing but cheese, cherries and lightning bugs for weeks at a time. El Mahdi held the proper moment to take hold of this matter and burst upon the astonished gaze of his people as a Messiah.

Devout, hungry and he took advantage of man's devotional nature, and skinned him out of his confidence and his wistfulness. He was a man of the better, and he had the undone condition of those who had not yet done up. Yearning for a bright intelligence, yet constantly postponing it so long as the Egyptian pullets held out, El Mahdi went on striding the people from day to day till they were ready to blindly follow him anywhere with their eyes closed.

War among the Arabs is conducted on an odd plan. It consists in deploying spears or pikepoets, whose duty it is to lead the enemy on for two or three months across the broad sweep of sand which he calls fatheland, and compelling the invader to drink alkali water during the meantime. This course of diet does not impair the health of the Arab, who has no bowels of compassion, but instead of those a porcelain lined alimentary canal and a clinker built gizzard, which assimilates readily anything from a crumpled up to a forked tail with horn buttons on it. Thus the Caucasian is readily overthrown by the Arab, and at autumn time he is bleached and eyesless skull, the scorpion finds her winter home.

The Belous in the desert is a good deal like our own warlike Indians in many ways. They are not the kind of people who range the concave sky, mess up against the heated guns of a hostile force and wait for an honorable death. Neither would they scale a result in the teeth of a going fire. They are not constructed according to those specifications. On the contrary, they sail up in a sort of cloud of fatigues and pick at the advancing foe, shake their travel stained nighties at the moving enemy, and, emitting a war cry as malicious as the crumpled remains of a cucumber, they go away from them.

After the battle the Arabian papers announce that 1200 handsome Englishmen, with beautiful sloping shoulders and Venus de Medici figures, have bitten the dust, while one elderly Arabian, who sprained his thumb by falling from his horse and striking on the sharp prong of a gopher hole.

But this has nothing to do with the religious craze among the red brother.

The Indian is no worse than all other barbaric people who scorn the sacred and secular press. Politics may be corrupt and leaders venal, but intelligence will win at last. It is where people do not advertise that the bogus Messiah is permitted to do up the people. It is where the Washington hand press and the primary school house yet slumber in the womb of the future that people fall down and worship a warty prophet who cannot safely refer to the place where he was last employed. The red brother, as many of us know, is not educated. He has for generations gone fishing in his youth, and in his old age died in ignorance. That is why religious fanaticism finds him a ready prey. That is why he is enabled to make, as the French say, one for pass after another, and to fall a ready victim to the wiles of the oratory.

The ghost dance is not likely, however, to become popular at the Patriarch's balls this winter. I am happy to say, as it is danced entirely by the men, the squares not being in it, as Mr. McAllister, the blooming cad of an otherwise creditable spot, would say. The squares are sometimes present at these religious dances, but not generally allowed to participate. Below I am permitted to give some of the costumes worn at a Pine Ridge ball and early, as given me in a private letter dated some weeks ago.

Tush-Tush, the daughter of old Johnnie-jump-up, the sockless brute, wore a mauve strap-dress that lined with broad blue and red stripes. Her arms were empty cartridges, size .44. She also wore ear tabs to come, cut in V and made of muslin skin, lined with bed-ticking. She wore an alpaca vest, with corsage bouquet of corn fritters draped across her chest. Her loose trousers had a broad red stripe down the side. She wore over all this a leather trimmed horse blanket, with holes in it from St. Paul. Her hair was braided plainly down each side, and tied in masses at the ends with sinews. Where she parted the ends of the blanket, there peeped coquettishly forth a small patch of the beautiful skin of Tush-Tush, bright and shiny as a new coin and bidding those who were brave enough to so plant thereon a large, resonant kiss.

Standing Horse, who led the ghost dance, wore a United States wagon cover on his arrival, and also threw one corner of it over his departure, but when the dancing began he checked his outer wrap, and was discovered to be dressed in a tunic of deer skin, with a belt and a coat of shellac. He danced until utterly worn out and exhausted, and eyes holes in it from St. Paul. Her hair was braided plainly down each side, and tied in masses at the ends with sinews. Where she parted the ends of the blanket, there peeped coquettishly forth a small patch of the beautiful skin of Tush-Tush, bright and shiny as a new coin and bidding those who were brave enough to so plant thereon a large, resonant kiss.

THE STORY OF NICKLEBY.

Dotheboys Hall a School Actually in the Flesh,

AND BOWES A REAL YORKSHIRE TOWN.

Bright Pen Picture of the Now Deserted Place and its Master Squere.

ROBABLY THE greatest immediate and lasting good ever done any nation by a work of fiction was effected by the "Nicholas Nickleby," of Charles Dickens. During the early part of the present century the private schools, and particularly the boys' schools of England, with a few notable exceptions like that of Rugby, were the most infamous in the world. If there can be superiority in infamy, Yorkshire stood best. Dickens himself said of his private schoolmasters: "Traders in the avarice, indifference or unbelief of parents, and the helplessness of children; ignorant, or, at best, brutal men, to whom few considerate persons would have entrusted the board and lodging of a horse or a dog; they formed the worthy cornerstone of a structure which, for absurdity and a magnificent high-minded laissez-faire neglect, has rarely been exceeded in the world."

How Dickens' grand and humane genius came to expunge the cause of the hosts of helpless and outraged children in England is a pleasing reminiscence of his magnificent literary career. The English-speaking world was still in raptures over his first success under the non-de-plume of "Boz." His publishers, Chapman & Hall, of London, had immediately engaged another work from his pen to appear in parts. Its plot and scope were still subjects for discussion, and, under the burdens and impositions of the young author, a misty and desperate anxiety to Dickens himself. In this condition of unrest and perturbation, there floated into his mind a misty recollection of his own vague childhood fancies regarding Yorkshire schools. He tells of these in his own inimitable way in the last preface written by him for "Nicholas Nickleby." He says: "I cannot call to mind, now, how I came to hear about Yorkshire schools when I was not a very robust child sitting in my place, near Rochester Castle, with a beautiful Partridge, Stray, Tom Pigeon and Sancho Panza, but I know that my first impression of them were picked up at that time, and that they have ever since been ever connected with a suppurated abscess that some boy had come home with, in consequence of his Yorkshire guide, philosopher and friend having ripped it open with an ink pen-knife!"

Here was opportunity for a great and merciful motive in fiction. With a boon companion, Hablot Browne, Dickens left London a few weeks before Christmas, 1837. The two made a thorough pilgrimage of Yorkshire on the old post-chaise routes, gathering, under all manner of pretences, every possible fact bearing on the accurate system, consulting files of old newspapers in York and neighboring cities for records of damage suits brought against proprietors of these schools for cruelty; wheeling his way into this obscure den and forcing his way into that one, and at last, in the remotest and most dreary portion of Northern Yorkshire, coming upon a nest of the dreadful places at and near the then thriving village of Bowes. Here Dickens remained for a time. He had heard of a man, a young man of the place, soon to elope as one of the immortals of fiction as honest "John Browdie." He represented himself as agent of a poor widow desirous of placing her only boy in a quiet country school. In this way he secured admission to a number in the vicinity, though shut out of some by the wary masters. "The school" seemed most suitable as a prototype of them all, for the person of its savage owner and his family, with wild and desolate physical surroundings in keeping with the hopelessness of the school life of the place itself, the Dotheboys Hall, still standing in Bowes. Not six months had passed before the torture and cruelty to helpless children in these remote prison pens were abated, and before the last chapter of "Nicholas Nickleby" had been read, the public feeling, which in many portions of the country barely escaped expression in riot, had annihilated every child-hell of the Dotheboys Hall variety in England.

Famous and infamous as Dickens made Bowes, few in England had ever before heard of the village. To the millions who learned Bowes—every object in its surroundings, every room in Dotheboys Hall, by heart—it was a purely fictional town. I asked over 500 "illiterate" people in England where Bowes was, and none found an individual who knew until I came to Kirby St. John, in the moorland hills of North-western Westmorland, sixteen miles away. Even in that town nobody seemed to know, until I found a rustic antiquarian who had at one time discovered an old Roman coin at Bowes, and who, after a hard struggle, remembered where it lay, over beyond wild old Stannemountain, "dead in the shell" as he put it.

If you came from London to Bowes over the same coach-road as did Nicholas, when nearing the end of his literary journey, "at about 6 o'clock that night," he and Mr. Squere and the little boys and their united luggage were put down at the George and New Inn, "you would have come by the old coach road from London to Edinburgh and Glasgow. On leaving the ancient city of York you would have struck into a highway 5000 years old. Masses of Roman legions have swept, tide on tide, back and forth over the same stone road. Stern Agricola, the courtly Tacitus and Emperor Severus himself have ridden toward the unconquerable North upon it. The latter left 50,000 of his army dead among the Scotch mists and mountains, and with his face set towards Rome and home, only reached York to die of his wounds and chagrin. It is the great Roman road of England. Away in the north of Yorkshire, a few miles above Catterick bridge, one of this highway goes on through Durham and Northumbria, and thence to Edinburgh. The Mithras, the other ways around to the westward traversing Westmorland and Cumberland through Carlisle to the great Roman wall, which once protected Britain from the Caledonian hordes, and thence, in a more modern coach road, to the old Roman wall, Gretna Green, to Glasgow. On this western stem, between the rivers Tees and Great, at the eastern edge of Stannemountain, nearly surrounded by desolate moors, and in the Northwest corner of Yorkshire, lies what is left of Bowes.

Whipped, pounded and beaten along for what seemed hours, my feet suddenly struck cobbles. Bowes at last! No human being ever loved so much to be in Bowes before. But where was the place after all? Not a candle or lamp light gleamed from the window within. Here and there along the zig-zag street a faint glimmer flashed against some tiny panes. Peering within, old and paler faces, bent and trembling, were here and there seen crouching over, thickening embers of meager fires. Drenched from rotten thatches, startled by the storm-lashed trees, and now thoroughly frightened with the prospect of no resting place for the night, I felt my way along what seemed to be the street facade of some large structure, and, coming to its corner, shrunk along this, where I halted for a little, well out of the full power of the tempest.

Scarcely had sufficient time elapsed to permit my getting back against the building before there was a startling splashing rush. The calves of my legs escaped the fury of the object making it, but with a return rush the ample folds of my storm-coat were gathered in a sort of voiceless view which only death could have made less low. Few were here and there seen crouching over, thickening embers of meager fires. Drenched from rotten thatches, startled by the storm-lashed trees, and now thoroughly frightened with the prospect of no resting place for the night, I felt my way along what seemed to be the street facade of some large structure, and, coming to its corner, shrunk along this, where I halted for a little, well out of the full power of the tempest.

Each city, Mr. Salter returned for a second and pastorate in 1881, but was again obliged to give up on account of his health after six months of service. Rev. J. W. Hargrave acted as pastor for a year very acceptably and declined an invitation to remain, leaving in June 1883, when he was succeeded by the present pastor, since that date the city has grown rapidly, and the church has kept pace with it.

The church was forced to build in 1887 and erected a stone edifice on Second street and Lake avenue only to lose it by fire in November, just as the exterior was finished. The insurance covered nearly the loss, the church losing about $5000, and the church was rebuilt on the same plans in 1888. The total cost, including land, was $35,000. There are 650 sittings, without a gallery, and convenient rooms for Sunday school and social needs. During the twenty years of its life, the church has received 480 members, and lost 148 by death and dismission, leaving a present membership of 332. It has always been marked by the cordial fellowship of its members, having survived one church trial, without any serious division, and for its hospitality.

It is one of the youngest churches in the country, so far as the average age of its congregation is concerned. There are thirty couples, under 35 years of age, where both husband and wife are communicants; and forty more, where one is a communicant, and the average age of the audience is probably under 35 years. It has also won the name of "the children's church," having the largest Sunday school in the city, and an unusual number of little folks in its regular attendance. The children's service is a regular part of the morning service. The aggregate attendance of children at church last year was 420, an average of slightly a Sunday. Its annual income is provided by voluntary pledges, the sittings all being free, and amounts this year to about $1000. Of this sum $100 is given for various benevolent causes.

The church pays the expenses of a mission in West Africa, and the Christian Endeavor society and Sunday school support a pupil in Japan. The organization of the church is quite thorough, and will be completed later by the formation of a young men's club, a junior society of Christian Endeavor, and a new Friends in Council to replace the former society of young ladies which bore that name.

Rev. Edward M. Noyes came to Duluth in 1883, and with the singular exception of Rev. C. J. Collins, of the Swedish Lutheran church, the pioneer among the pastors at the head of the lake. Mr. Salter, of course, was here in 1871, but his present residence dates back only three or four years. Noyes was born in New Haven, Conn., Oct. 12, 1838, and is therefore 52 years old. He was fitted for college at a little school in his native city and graduated at Yale in 1857, ranking fifth in the class. His theological course was also taken at Yale, while he supported himself by teaching, and was interrupted by a brief experience as a teacher in one of the churches of his native city. He graduated in theology in 1862, and remained for a year of post-graduate study, chiefly in New Testament Greek and church history, and came to Duluth in June, 1883. This is thus the eighth year of his first pastorate. He has received 104 into membership in this seven and a half years, a large majority of the present members of the church, a rare experience for a minister. Mrs. Noyes was Miss May Simpson of Bath, Me., and they were married in 1884, and have two daughters. Their residence is No. 218 Second avenue west.

Insanity of Millionaires. The increased strain put on a money-making man at the present time, especially if he be engaged in speculation, is something tremendous. Time was, that the very rich people were either those who had inherited a goodly fortune, or those who had accumulated wealth by long years of steady economy to business. Then, too, a millionaire was a wonder, now anything short of $5,000,000 to $10,000,000 puts the man out of the category of "the rich." Under the present conditions, every faculty must be constantly under whip and spur, and dangerous nerves are often resorted to. No wonder there are so many cases of death from "heart failure" among the millionaires. The way to avoid this is to cease so much making haste to be rich, and to know what one is comfortably well off, and to always select the luxurious traits of "The Burlington" when about to make a journey either for business or pleasure. DULUTH'S CHURCH LIFE.

Work of a Church That is Enjoying Twenty Years.

SKETCH OF PILGRIM CONGREGATIONAL.

Its Distinguishing Features, Its Activity, Its Benevolences and Its Pastor.

PILGRIM congregational church was organized Jan. 18, 1871, by Rev. C. C. Salter, who served it as pastor for five years. Of the sixteen original members nine are still residents of the city—Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Johnson, Mrs. R. S. Munger, Rev. and Mrs. C. C. Salter, Deacon and Mrs. W. S. Woodbridge and Mr. George Spencer. Services were held in the Penitentiary block, recently torn down, on the corner of Superior street and First avenue west, until the church on the corner of Second street and First avenue west, now occupied by the unitarians, was ready in July, 1871. Mr. Salter's health failed in 1876, and he was followed in the pastorate by Rev. Messrs. Conant, Ingalls and Tracy.

During this period of the financial depression, the question of abandoning the church was often raised, but it was voted to continue. The church is now a black and white building, with a steeple, and is a fine example of the modern style of architecture. It is a fine example of the modern style of architecture.

The church pays the expenses of a mission in West Africa, and the Christian Endeavor society and Sunday school support a pupil in Japan. The organization of the church is quite thorough, and will be completed later by the formation of a young men's club, a junior society of Christian Endeavor, and a new Friends in Council to replace the former society of young ladies which bore that name.

Rev. Edward M. Noyes came to Duluth in 1883, and with the singular exception of Rev. C. J. Collins, of the Swedish Lutheran church, the pioneer among the pastors at the head of the lake. Mr. Salter, of course, was here in 1871, but his present residence dates back only three or four years. Noyes was born in New Haven, Conn., Oct. 12, 1838, and is therefore 52 years old. He was fitted for college at a little school in his native city and graduated at Yale in 1857, ranking fifth in the class. His theological course was also taken at Yale, while he supported himself by teaching, and was interrupted by a brief experience as a teacher in one of the churches of his native city. He graduated in theology in 1862, and remained for a year of post-graduate study, chiefly in New Testament Greek and church history, and came to Duluth in June, 1883. This is thus the eighth year of his first pastorate. He has received 104 into membership in this seven and a half years, a large majority of the present members of the church, a rare experience for a minister. Mrs. Noyes was Miss May Simpson of Bath, Me., and they were married in 1884, and have two daughters. Their residence is No. 218 Second avenue west.

Insanity of Millionaires. The increased strain put on a money-making man at the present time, especially if he be engaged in speculation, is something tremendous. Time was, that the very rich people were either those who had inherited a goodly fortune, or those who had accumulated wealth by long years of steady economy to business. Then, too, a millionaire was a wonder, now anything short of $5,000,000 to $10,000,000 puts the man out of the category of "the rich." Under the present conditions, every faculty must be constantly under whip and spur, and dangerous nerves are often resorted to. No wonder there are so many cases of death from "heart failure" among the millionaires. The way to avoid this is to cease so much making haste to be rich, and to know what one is comfortably well off, and to always select the luxurious traits of "The Burlington" when about to make a journey either for business or pleasure. Information about rates and routes to all points, can be obtained from agents of the connecting lines, or by writing to W. J. C. Kenyon, general passenger agent, Chicago, Burlington & Northern railroad, St. Paul, Minn.

EVENTS IN WASHINGTON

Impressive Services Over the Grave of Winford.

THE LATE SECRETARY'S CHARACTER

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—Funeral services over the remains of the late secretary of the treasury—Hon. William Winford—were held at the church of the covenant today. The scene was impressive in its solemnity. Gathered within the walls of the stately white marble church were the nation's greatest statesmen, diplomats of foreign countries, the highest officers of the army and navy of the United States, the most brilliant women of the social world, while mingling in the vast crowd were many whose plain dress bespoke their position in social life and emphasized the truth that "death levels all rank."

To a large majority of those present the dead secretary was personally known, his long public service having given him an extended and varied acquaintance. The observance was general throughout the city, both houses of congress, the supreme court, schools and public institutions being closed for the occasion.

At 11 o'clock a private service for the family and intimate friends was conducted at the family residence, Rev. Dr. Hamlin, of the Presbyterian church of the covenant, officiated. Among those present were William Winford, son of the secretary, Mrs. Winford, the Misses Winford, the members of the cabinet and their wives, the members of the cabinet, private services the funeral cortege moved to the church. The church had been appropriately decorated.

The casket, borne on the shoulders of eight of the treasury guard, was preceded by the band of the treasury by the members of the cabinet. The honorary bearers were followed by members of the family. When all were seated the choir sang "Jesus, Lover of My Soul," after which Dr. Hamlin read selections from the hymns, "In the Cross of Christ I Glory," was then rendered.

Among the offerings were: A design from the plate printer of the bureau of engraving and printing, with the legend, "Plate Printers—3387," in violet ink, inserted in a bed of white roses, fringed with a floral wreath of white roses; a floral cross from the secretary's office and a shield from the office of the register of the treasury; together with contents of the treasury, a large wreath of violets and lilies of the valley, encircled by a wide band of purple ribbon, crossed with a sheaf of golden wheat; the Union league club, Minneapolis, sent a cross of roses and lilies of the valley with a wreath of violets and the inscription, "Rest." The governor of Minnesota and Mrs. Merriam sent a beautiful bunch of call lilies.

The minister summed up the character of the deceased in the words: "Charming, affable of unfailing courtesy, of quiet dignity, of beautiful presence and of conservative, a man unexcelled, a citizen of unflinching patriotism, a model husband and a father of tenderest manly love, a Christian sturdy, faith—such was William Winford."

He likened the deceased to Lincoln and Garfield in his early career and to Hamilton in his conduct of the treasury, and his last effort in New York was characterized as a proper closing to a conservative career.

Winford's Memory.
New York, Feb. 2.—All the federal buildings in the city are closed today out of respect to the late secretary of the treasury. They are all draped in mourning.

TRADE WITH BRAZIL.
Merchant of Rio Janeiro Expresses Himself on the Subject.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—The bureau of American republics has received a letter from a leading merchant in Rio Janeiro regarding the market in that country of goods manufactured in America. He enumerates almost every article of merchandise exported from the United States, giving prices, etc., and says that though they are enormously high, every article meets with a ready sale. He says: "If I were in business in New York, instead of Rio de Janeiro I would do a big trade throughout all the provinces of Brazil. It only wants some of the New York wholesale firms to go for this market and before long our people would regularly send all their supplies. Brazil's reciprocity ideas will lead to increased business with us."

ROMANTIC SUICIDE.
A Woman Survives Many Adversities Only to Take Her Life.
CHICAGO, Feb. 2.—Mrs. Catherine McKnight, who committed suicide yesterday, had passed a life made up of thrilling and romantic events. She had five husbands, and from three of them she secured divorces. During the civil war she was a persistent Union spy.

Mrs. McKnight's real name was Catherine Williams. When but 18 years old she met Harry Wilson, and fell in love. The pair eloped when the war was declared, the husband hurried to the front and not many months elapsed before Mrs. Wilson went after him. She was installed in the quarters of the New Hampshire regiment, and became the daughter of the regiment.

In April, 1863, the husband was captured while on a secret mission and sent to a Louisville prison. The "soldier's lassie" then decided to become a spy. She spent many months about the prison, and was at last successful in securing a pass to the prison, and wearing a suit of man's clothes, beneath her garments, she was conducted to her husband. He hastily donned the garments and succeeded in passing the wall, but before he had a chance to make good his escape, he was shot and killed. Mrs. Wilson was tried and sentenced to death, but succeeded in escaping.

South Dakota's Fight.
PIERRE, S. D., Feb. 2.—The legislature called for session with the following result: Monday, Feb. 2; Tuesday, Feb. 3; Wednesday, Feb. 4; Thursday, Feb. 5; Friday, Feb. 6; Saturday, Feb. 7; Sunday, Feb. 8; necessary to adjourn to tomorrow.

HIS GOLDEN JUBILEE.

Fiftieth Anniversary of a Celebrated Jesuit Father.
CHICAGO, Feb. 2.—The golden jubilee of Rev. Father Florentin Boudreaux of the order of the Jesuits, was celebrated this morning in the Church of the Sacred Heart, Archbishop Feehan celebrant. Despite his advanced age Boudreaux is known as one of the greatest of Jesuit orators in this country. He came a member of the order in St. Louis in 1841 and has been prominently identified with catholic colleges in St. Louis, Cincinnati, Harrison, Ky. and San Francisco. His labors as a teacher of chemistry have made him one of the best known among the many eminent teachers of the order, and his skill and knowledge as a chemist have brought him world-wide fame. He is also an author of repute and his work entitled, "Happy Days of Heaven" has been translated into nine foreign tongues.

THE DAY'S FIRES.

Bad Weather for Blazes: News of Many Fires From the City.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Feb. 2.—A disastrous fire occurred here. A high wind prevailed and the entire business portion of the city was threatened. The fire started in the basement of the Wilson Drug company. Over the drug store for some time a fire had been burning, and the Central hotel was crowded with guests, among whom there was a panic, but all escaped to the street safely.

It is not known what the loss will aggregate. The Wilson Drug company was insured for $30,000, which fully covers the loss on stock. The Central hotel was insured for $40,000 but only a portion of that structure was damaged to any extent.

Philadelphia.—A fire in Wiles' building on Fifth street early this morning caused a loss of $3,000. Engineer Duplap is reported killed and several firemen were injured by the falling of a heavy crane.

Chillicothe, Ohio.—The Beth opera house building was destroyed by fire early yesterday morning. The structure was valued at $20,000, only $6,000 insured. The cause of the fire is not known. The fire started in the kitchen and spread to the main floor, where it was discovered by the firemen. The building was a large one, and contained many valuable contents. The firemen were unable to reach the building in time to save it.

St. Louis.—The storage warehouse of Alexander A. Siskirk at No. 12 North Seventh street, together with contents, was destroyed by fire early this morning. Loss about $15,000; insurance, $6,000.

Appleton City, Mo.—Word was received here this morning that another destructive fire had occurred in Rockville, a town eight miles south. This time the fire was in a warehouse. It is supposed to be the work of incendiaries. Thirteen houses were destroyed. Loss, $15,000.

CAPTAIN NORTON AGAIN.

Report That He has Reached Toulon Generally Discredited.

New York, Feb. 2.—A report has been circulated that Capt. F. L. Norton, who started Nov. 24 from New London in his lifeboat from Toulon, France, had reached his destination. No corroboration of the statement, however, has been received at the bureau of the Navy. The object of Capt. Norton's voyage to France was to receive the prize awarded him for his heroic rescue of the crew of the ship "The Albatross" in 1884.

The object of Capt. Norton's voyage to France was to receive the prize awarded him for his heroic rescue of the crew of the ship "The Albatross" in 1884. He was accompanied by his wife and niece, and the boat being manned by a crew of seven. The craft was sighted off Gibraltar on December 18, but since that time nothing whatever has been heard of it.

DAVIS WILL CASE.
Hearing of the Evidence is Opened This Morning.

BUTTE, Mont., Feb. 2.—Another stage in what promises to be an interminable litigation over the will of the late A. J. Davis, the millionaire, who died some years ago, was opened this morning when Judge McMillan commenced to hear the evidence in the contest. Since the preliminary proceedings have been held, the litigation has been protracted, and this has the tendency to still further complicate the case. On one side are Henry A. Root, of New York, on the other John A. Davis, of Chicago.

The laws will purport to have been drawn up in 1886. John A. Davis was appointed administrator of the estate of his brother; the appointment having been sustained by the supreme court of the state on appeal, and Root and the others contest the will which gives everything to Davis. Meanwhile James A. Talbot is acting as a special administrator.

Christian Endeavor Anniversary.
PORTLAND, Me., Feb. 2.—During the present week the tenth anniversary of the foundation of the first Society of Christian Endeavor will be observed throughout the country. This city is the birthplace of the movement. To night impressive exercises will be held in Williston church, in which the first society was born. Tomorrow there will be a service in the city hall, and in the Second parish and First Baptist churches. Prominent representatives from nearly every denomination from New York, Massachusetts and other points will participate.

Death Knell of the Lottery.
BANTON ROUGE, La., Feb. 2.—The state supreme court assembled today. One of the most important questions to be decided upon relates to whether the secretary of state shall promulgate the amendment to the constitution to be voted upon at the state election in April of next year, which grants a lottery charter for twenty-five years, the lottery company to pay purses for $1,200,000 a year. The bill in question was voted by Governor Nicholls, but the right of the chief executive to pass upon the measure is denied by the lottery people.

CATCHES A BAD GANG

Detectives Run Down a Lot of Women Shoplifters.

PLYING THE TRADE FOR MONTHS

And Thousands of Dollars of Goods Stolen From Local Dry Goods Stores.

Private detectives McLaughlin and Benson have been investigating mysterious shop lifting which has been going on ever since the middle of last December. Hundreds of dollars worth of silk dresses, patterns, piano covers, fancy goods etc., have been taken from every dry and fancy goods house in the city.

At the present writing it is impossible to say just how extensive these operations have been. Pantan & Watson claim to have lost over $300 worth of goods while Silberstein & Bondy have lost as much more. Nearly every dry goods house claims to have lost goods, but most of them up to the present time are unable to tell how much they have lost. Saturday night the detectives ran down the gang and have discovered them all now except two or three. There was a regular organized gang of women, most of whom roomed along First street between First and Second avenues west. The principal thief is known as Belle King, well known as a woman of the town.

The detectives are hunting in West Superior today for another of the thieves, and will in all probability capture her.

The goods are scattered. Some of them have been shipped to St. Paul to be disposed of. Some of the goods were found yesterday in some of the houses on Minnesota Point. Mr. Bondy and a detective visited Belle King at her room yesterday on West First street. She knew what their errand was at once but denied that she knew anything about the goods. When she was given the alternative of confessing or going to jail she revealed the whole system of plundering the dry goods stores. She took a large circular with her when she went to the stores, the whole inside of which was a pocket. She would carry away two or three dresses patterns at once besides a large number of notions and fancy goods. She always did her work in the daytime, looking around the counters pretending to inspect goods until the saleslady's neck was turned when she would slip a silk dress pattern into the big inside pocket.

At present five persons are under detective surveillance and are watched night and day. The object is to recover all the goods, if possible, before any complaints are made. The city is being thoroughly searched. From pointers taken yesterday by Belle King $300 worth of silk goods were recovered.

Mr. Bondy states that tough characters room on both sides of First street between First and Second avenues west. Natural History of the Seal.

SEATTLE, Wash., Feb. 2.—James G. Swan of Port Townsend, has published affidavits of numerous sealers that seals are born all along the coast, and that the pups can swim as soon as born. If this can be proven it is said it will change the whole Bering Sea controversy, as it is claimed now that fur seals breed only on the Pribilof islands, and that the species would be exterminated if the hunters are not excluded from the Bering Sea. Fur seals were never so abundant at Cape Plattery as now. They were found in myriads, and the Indians are killing them by hundreds.

Bitten by a Rattler.
ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., Feb. 2.—Edward Bosanquet, son of a wealthy London banker, was bitten on the leg by a rattlesnake near Dayton yesterday, while hunting and is beyond hope of recovery. A Mr. Walker, his companion, came to his aid and endeavored to suck the poison from the wound. Walker had a sore on his hip and absorbed some of the poison. He became partially paralyzed but last night he was considered out of danger.

Drovers' Ticket Problem.
CHICAGO, Feb. 2.—A meeting of representatives of Western railroads is being held today at the office of the Chicago Milwaukee & St. Paul, to consider the question of the abuse of live stock contracts and the manipulation by scalpers, in collusion with stockmen, of drovers' return tickets. A special committee representing the freight and passenger departments of the leading western roads, is to report on the details of which are kept secret.

Mrs. Abbott Recovering.
CHICAGO, Feb. 2.—Mrs. Seth Abbott, mother of the late Emma Abbott, who has been confined to her bed since the sudden death of the prima donna, is slowly recovering. She is over 70 years of age and very feeble. Miss Abbott's sister, Mrs. Lizzie Abbott, who has been connected with the settlement of the estate.

Patternmakers in Convention.
CHICAGO, Feb. 2.—The convention of the National League of Patternmakers opened today for the purpose of completing arrangements for the introduction of the eight-hour day, May 1.

Carbon Hill Race War.
BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Feb. 2.—The riots at Carbon Hill are still in progress and two companies of state troops have been ordered to the scene. There was more blood shed yesterday. Not less than eight or ten negroes have been killed. A number of white men who were concerned in the shooting have been banded together and defy arrest. All the trouble seems to have grown out of the determination of the white miners to drive away the colored miners.

Forced Into Bankruptcy.
PORT WORTH, Texas, Feb. 2.—The Randall-Chambers Dry Goods company filed a deed of assignment Saturday night. The indebtedness amounted to $23,488. Pressure of claims at a critical juncture caused the assignment.

Fatal Accident.
ST. LOUIS, Mo., Feb. 2.—William Swisher was killed and John Kelly badly burned in the ice plant of Tamm Bros. glue works yesterday.

Another Consolidated Fire Company.
CHICAGO, Feb. 2.—The Consolidated Fire Insurance company made a voluntary assignment. Assets, $800; liabilities, $35,000.

NEWS FROM OVERSEA.

A Great Revival of Socialism Expected in Europe.

LONDON, Feb. 2.—All indications point to a more pronounced socialist agitation throughout Europe this spring than in the earlier part of last year. In Austria, Belgium and Spain workmen's clubs have already declared in favor of a great labor demonstration on May 1, one that will take in every capital of Europe west of Russia, and that will include every branch of manual labor. The socialist propaganda is no longer confined to the actual working classes. The leaders of the agitation are devoting special attention to the army and in Belgium yesterday their successes were shown by a demonstration on the part of some recent levees that for a time created general alarm. In Portugal, too, the authorities are convinced that the Oporto insurrection was the work of socialists.

Notwithstanding the vigilance of the house, and heavy penalties imposed on soldiers directed in reading the prohibited literature of socialism, pamphlets and newspapers teaching socialist doctrine are circulated in every barracks, and can hardly fail to have some effect upon the German army, highly disciplined though it is. The socialists are also giving much time and effort to practical agitation among the agricultural classes who have been heretofore neglected. The proposed meeting of a conference representing European congresses to determine upon measures of mutual protection against the agitation of socialists and anarchists has not yet been held, although Austria and Germany have had some discussion on the subject.

GLADSTONE WON'T RETIRE.

At Least His Actions do not Indicate It.

LONDON, Feb. 2.—Mr. Gladstone evidently has no intention of retiring from public life at present. He has taken a house for the season on Park lane, overlooking Hyde park. It is known that the recent rumors of his intended withdrawal from public life have hurt Mr. Gladstone's feelings so much that he refuses to reply to any inquiry on the subject. Mr. Morley is reported as saying that Mr. Gladstone is in vigorous condition both of mind and body, and means to persevere in the advocacy of great reforms which, he is certain, will eventually triumph, and that the liberal party is as united as ever in support of their leader.

ANOTHER ENGAGEMENT.

This Time the Chilean Government Forces Win in the Seas.

BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 2.—There has been another naval engagement off Anoud. The battle was fought between a government war vessel and a revolutionary man-of-war, the latter being defeated. It is thought that the ships engaged were the two vessels heretofore spoken of—the insurgent ship which landed the revolutionary marines at Anoud, and the government vessel which failed in an attempt to land troops at that port and under cover of the British flag which she displayed as a disguise.

IN IRELAND.

A Parnellite Settlement: Balfour's Efforts to Satisfy the Distress.

DUBLIN, Feb. 2.—The McCarthyites are anxious for a settlement of the matters in dispute and are confident in the wisdom of Dillon and O'Brien. Seven times in seven weeks Irish meetings have pronounced for Parnell and the changes in freight charges and the amount of the liability of the company for injury to or loss of the goods. These irregularities in our freight regulations are a very serious drawback and at the same time an injustice to shippers. More than anything else, the carrying trade at the present time, these things need to be remedied and corrected.

"It looks at the present as if an appeal will have to be made by all the commercial bodies of the country to the inter-state commerce commission before these difficulties can be adjusted and you may look within a few days for reports of such resolutions being forwarded from all parts of the country to the commission. We are determined to have these matters adjusted, and as a last resort will appeal to congress for legislation on the subject."

CRISIS IN ITALY.

Minister Crispi Again Retires, This Time to Satisfy the Dispute.

ROME, Jan. 2.—The king regards the resignation of Minister Crispi as final and has not requested its withdrawal. The Paris bourse is weak, and owing to the ministerial crisis in Rome, Italian securities are declining.

Will Withdraw His Amendment.
LONDON, Feb. 2.—It is now believed that Sir John Popham's amendment to the religious disabilities bill in which Heneaney proposed that the sovereignty of Great Britain be vested in the pope or his chosen to be one. The Irish catholics in the house have been most vigorous in urging the withdrawal of the obnoxious clause, as it was only calculated to arouse animosity without any prospect of good results.

Gladstone's Home Rule.
LONDON, Feb. 2.—Mr. Gladstone is said to have given through Mr. Morley the assurance asked for by Parnell as to the kind of home rule he is designing for Ireland. These assurances are the settlement of the land question by the Irish parliament, and the conversion of the royal Irish constabulary into plain, harmless "bobbies."

Wild Over "Irishness."
LONDON, Feb. 2.—The Standard says that "Irishness" is the most imposing spectacle that the English operatic stage has yet witnessed, and the Telegram pronounces it a brilliant success.

Will Assist the Government.
LONDON, Feb. 2.—Leaders of all monarchist groups have spontaneously and unconditionally offered their services in support of the government.

Effect of Crispi's Downfall.
LONDON, Feb. 2.—The Standard says: The political fall of Signor Crispi is an event of the gravest significance, but will not exercise the remotest influence on Italy's foreign policy, except that a bride will be imposed on the present inane and inapplicable waste of Italian money in Africa.

JOINS WEST DULUTH

Lakeside Passes Resolutions and Sends a Committee.

BOTH SUBURBS FIGHT FOR US

Col. Graves on the Efforts of Boards of Trade to Secure Justice.

Lakeside has practically joined hands with West Duluth in the fight against annexation to Duluth. The chairman of the committee of Lakeside appointed to lobby at St. Paul states, that Lakeside is willing to come into Duluth in two years, but the resolutions below do not indicate anything of the kind. At the mass meeting of the citizens of Lakeside Saturday evening, Jan. 31, the following resolutions were passed: Resolved, the inhabitants of the village of Lakeside in a mass meeting assembled that in their opinion the local affairs can be better managed, more cheaply and satisfactorily; improvements can be carried on more rapidly and at less cost and the general interests of said village be better subserved by its remaining as a separate and distinct municipal organization, and that they are therefore strongly opposed to the annexation of said village to the city of Duluth at the present time or for some years to come.

COL GRAVES TALKS.

Commercial Bodies Will Appeal to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Col. C. H. Graves returned yesterday from attendance on the meetings of committees from the various commercial bodies of the country to devise a way of securing uniform bills of lading and uniform classification of freight. These delegations are united under the name of the National Transportation association.

"We have been endeavoring," said Col. Graves to the Herald, "to come upon an issue uniformly from the railroads if possible. Thence we have made but little headway. The roads themselves proposed to issue a uniform bill of lading which was so hedged about by conditions that it left them out of obligations either to deliver goods to their destination or to pay damages to the owners in case of loss or damage. Yet on the other hand, they were very careful to charge demurrage to be shipped if there happened to be an delay in unloading their cars. They evidently want the earth with two or three plays by Bell."

"This, as you remember, created a general howl from shippers all over the country. The kitchen no general that a large number of the Western roads refused to adopt the new bill of lading at all. The classification of freight, too, is a different road is also a great bug-bear to the shippers. If for instance I wished to ship a carload of household goods from New York to Fargo, it might be loaded in New York as third class but before it got to Fargo, it might go under two or three different classifications with corresponding changes in freight charges and in the amount of the liability of the company for injury to or loss of the goods. These irregularities in our freight regulations are a very serious drawback and at the same time an injustice to shippers. More than anything else, the carrying trade at the present time, these things need to be remedied and corrected."

"It looks at the present as if an appeal will have to be made by all the commercial bodies of the country to the interstate commerce commission before these difficulties can be adjusted and you may look within a few days for reports of such resolutions being forwarded from all parts of the country to the commission. We are determined to have these matters adjusted, and as a last resort will appeal to congress for legislation on the subject."

SECURED A MILLION.
But He is Arrested at Last in Far Away Mexico.

New York, Feb. 2.—The Pinkerton Detective agency on this city has been informed by its agent in the city of Mexico that the Mexican police had arrested James T. Henry who is wanted in Canada on the charge of robbing the Bank of Montreal of $1,000,000 on December 12 last.

Henry was an exchange broker at Chatham, Ont., and usually carried a large amount of the bank's securities. On the above date he disappeared. He was known to have crossed the American border, but by the time Pinkerton's men were notified he was probably in Mexican territory.

In the early part of January the Mexican authorities were notified of the robbery and were given a full description of the securities. In the meantime a stranger had arrived in the City of Mexico and attempted to negotiate certain securities with the agency of a London bank. They knew that the securities were part of those from the Bank of Montreal, and the latter institution was advised of Henry's whereabouts. Detectives were sent after him and he was arrested followed. The prisoner will start for Canada this week.

APPEAL TO THE COUNTRY.

The Canadian Government Will Have a New House

TO DECIDE ON RECIPROCITY.

Looks as if the Commercial Unionists Had Won a Tremendous Victory.

TORONTO, Feb. 3.—The Empire, the chief organ of the Dominion government, announces that acting on the advice of his ministers the governor general of the Dominion has been persuaded to dissolve the house of commons and issue the legal writs for a new parliament. Nominations will take place Thursday, Feb. 26, and polling on Thursday, March 5. The reasons given are the following: "It being understood that the Dominion government has, through her majesty's government, made certain proposals to the United States for negotiations looking to an extension of our commerce with that country, and that these proposals have been submitted to the President of the United States for his consideration, the Canadian government is of the opinion that the present parliament should be dissolved and a new parliament summoned to meet on the 11th of March, 1891, in order that the Canadian people may be able to express their views on the proposed reciprocity treaty which must be ratified by parliament. It is therefore evident that the government should be able to deal with a parliament fresh from the people rather than with a moribund house. "It is understood that Canada will send a large delegation to Washington after March 4, the date on which the life of the present American congress expires, for the purpose of discussing in detail questions of the extension and development of trade between the United States and Canada, and for the settlement of all questions of difference. This delegation will visit the United States Capital, it is said, as a result of the friendly suggestions from Washington.

STRONG FOR RECIPROCITY.

Goldwin Smith Advocates Commercial Union with the United States. Toronto, Feb. 3.—In an address to the liberals last night Goldwin Smith said the manifest political destiny of Canada was union with the United States, and he ridiculed the attempt to make a carrier of loyalty against the current of Canada's destiny. He said the cry of disloyalty had a serious effect in preventing a fair consideration of questions of vital importance to Canadians. He said: "We are disloyal," it is said, "because we propose to enter into a tariff arrangement with the United States, and by entering into such an arrangement we are betraying the cause of the free independence of Canada. Of course you can make a treaty with out surrendering to that extent. The treaty is fair, where is the dishonor? Great Britain will see at least that she has no real interest here but amity and trade.

"The unity of the race, and the immense advantage of a settlement which would put out war from this continent, make it one of the greatest questions of the day. I feel confident, in the end, there might be danger and there might be delay in reaching a question, if there were on the part of the Americans any disposition to aggression. But there is none. The desire of Americans to bring Canada into the Union has always appeared to me to be very weak. It would be disloyalty to even think of anything less than equal and honorable union between England and Scotland. But who does think of anything else?"

Publishing Blaine's Letters. WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—Representative Baker, of New York, has been spending with Secretary Blaine on Canadian reciprocity, has loaned the original letters to the Toronto Globe for the purpose of publishing them. Representative Baker says he knew the desire of Secretary Blaine would create a stir in Canada, and that the letters have always appeared to me to be very weak. It would be disloyalty to even think of anything less than equal and honorable union between England and Scotland. But who does think of anything else?"

STOCK COMPANY WORSTED.

Grangers' Live Stock Concern Beaten in Litigation.

St. Louis, Feb. 3.—Judge Snyder, of the Illinois circuit court, has dealt the American Live Stock Commission a severe blow by dissolving the Robinson injunction. The American Live Stock Commission company was established in 1880. Its stockholders are some of the largest ranchmen and stockmen in the United States. Members of the farmers alliance and Farmers Mutual Benefit association of Kansas, Iowa, Nebraska and Illinois are also stockholders. The object of the company was to reduce the cost of marketing stock. The American Live Stock Commission company charges exchange prices to its stockholders, but each year declares a dividend of its profits. The enormous business done by this new company and its regular dividend, declared alarmed commission men. Amendments were made to the bylaws of the exchange which rendered any person acting for any company declaring dividends ineligible to membership, also prohibiting any of its members from buying stock from any such company. Most of the buyers are also members of the exchange, and the effects of these amendments, if American would prevent the American from doing any business. E. H. Robinson, representative of the commission, was suspended by the exchange. He secured a temporary injunction and this injunction has been dissolved by Judge Snyder, who decided that the exchange had right to bar Robinson or anybody else from doing business on exchange.

The plunder would be turned over to the older brother, George, who disposed of it to tradesmen.

VALUABLE LAND CONTEST.

Hugo, and have in their possession a land warrant from the general assembly of Maryland, dated April 15, 1788, for lots 2398, 2701, 2703 and 2704. FRANTIC WIDOWS.

They Attack the Superintendent of the 111th Filled Mine.

MAMMOTH, Pa., Feb. 3.—Superintendent Knightly of the 111th filled mine, was assaulted yesterday by the wives of the victims of the recent explosion. When the superintendent arrived at the mine he was met by a woman, who sprang at him like a tigress. A number of hysterics followed the attack by striking Knightly. Some of the missiles struck him, causing painful bruises. Families of the victims are being sent out of the mine, and there is no actual war. Over $15,000 has been given to the bereaved families.

MR. CLEVELAND'S WAY.

But Mary Ann Daugherty Will Get the Pension

SHE HAS SOUGHT SO MANY YEARS.

A Story of Sorrow and Blighted Hope that Will Lose Cleveland Votes.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—Poor Mary Ann Daugherty. Every newspaper reader knows who she is. She is the woman for whom Grover Cleveland when president, vetoed a bill granting her a pension. The ground taken by President Cleveland for refusing to sign the bill was that Mrs. Daugherty was addicted to the use of liquor and was an unfit person to receive government aid. Mary Ann Kells, for that was her maiden name, cast her fortunes with a man named Daniel Daugherty. The young couple took up their residence in the city of New York, where they were happily together until the early part of 1863, when they, with their two little boys, removed to Washington. The war was at its height and more troops were needed. Nerved to a scene of duty he owed his country Daugherty bade farewell to his wife and little toddlers and returned to Mount Holly, N. J., where a volunteer regiment was being formed. He joined Company G, Thirty-fourth regiment New Jersey volunteers. A few days later Daugherty's regiment left for the South. Meanwhile Mary Ann was making cartridges at the United States arsenal in this city, while their oldest son, a lad of 10 or 12 years, was engaged in the machine shop at the navy yard. Mary Ann worked early and late to keep together her loved ones. In the latter part of June, 1864, there was an explosion at the United States arsenal in which Mrs. Daugherty was working. Several employees were killed and maimed and Mary Ann was among the latter. When found she was unconscious and became insane from the injuries received. Mrs. Daugherty never recovered from her injuries and the unbalancing of her mind. Today she is really a pitiable sight as she wanders aimlessly about the streets of Washington. She is known to every member of congress and an habitué of the Capitol, for she has spent nearly all of her time since the war in endeavoring to get a pension. Of late, however, her condition has been such that she has been unable to leave her home.

Following the close of the war Daugherty came home but disappeared soon after and when Mrs. Daugherty recovered her oldest son had disappeared. For years she labored for a pension only to have the bill vetoed by Cleveland. At the beginning of the war in Congress Mrs. Daugherty was on hand again pressing her claim. During the first session she was seen daily about the corridors of the Capitol button-holing members in the interest of her claim. The bill has been favorably reported by the committee on claims and by great numbers of the simply curious. Presently the drums of the republican party were heard and a moment later that famous corps preceded by the gens d'armes swept into the great roared open space about the gullion.

As the time drew nearer for the execution of the sentence of the law, the swarming throng was recruited by an army of shady characters who accompanied by evil works by daylight and by great numbers of the simply curious. Presently the drums of the republican party were heard and a moment later that famous corps preceded by the gens d'armes swept into the great roared open space about the gullion.

Streaming beside the marching troops and policemen came a crowd of carousers. The prisoner walked steadily to the guillotine. As he neared he shouted: "Constant is a murderer. More of a murderer than am I." He then died.

Blue for Buckman.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—To develop that Mr. Buckman will meet with difficulty in securing the appointment to the surveyor-generalship of Minnesota. Jim Hill is here working against him, and his assistants ex-Governor McGill and ex-Governor Marshall are also here to oppose him. Hill has given the great deal of attention, and if it passes it will be in case of his passage to the senate. It is believed that President Harrison will sign it and Mary Ann Daugherty will at last receive her just reward.

Gladiators' Catholic Measure.

LONDON, Feb. 3.—The religious disabilities bill is expected to come up for debate in the house of commons on Wednesday, with Mr. Gladstone as its personal champion. The bill, which proposes to permit Roman Catholics to be lord chamberlain of England and viceroy of Ireland, is not a measure of the liberal party, but Mr. Gladstone's personal bill for which he alone is responsible.

Man Mangled.

BERLIN, Feb. 3.—The "white book" issued on the Emin expedition shows that in some cases Emin's apparent disregard of orders was due to the misdirection of letters and dispatches. Maj. Wissman appears to have been hasty in his judgment of Emin. The German government is favorably impressed by Emin's report.

The Government's Interpretation.

LONDON, Feb. 3.—Justin McCarthy's Liverpool speech is accepted by the English government press as a pronouncement of surrender to Parnell, and as showing that McCarthy himself is tired of the struggle between the Irish and the English and determined to take himself out of it.

The Relief Works.

DUBLIN, Feb. 3.—Balfour's light railways in Ireland have given work to 7412 unskilled workmen.

Important Committee on Preparation for an Event in '93.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—The committee on scope and plan of the general committee which is arranging for the congress of republics to be convened in this country during the World's fair, held a preliminary meeting this afternoon at the Hoffman house. Champion S. Chase, of Omaha, presided. Other members of the committee present were Cardinal Gibbons, Carl Schurz, Grover Cleveland, Thomas W. Palmer, Rev. W. C. Roberts, of Lake Forest, Ill., Bishop Cheney, of Chicago; Rabbi Gotthelf, Dr. Lyman Abbott, John Clark Ridgway, of New York; William H. Aronson, Col. Ethan Allen, Walter S. Logan, of Philadelphia, Gen. Lew Wallace, with William C. McDowell as secretary.

Prior to the meeting the committee paid a visit to Hon. David Dudley Field, who had been named as honorary chairman. Secretary McDowell made reports showing that the work was progressing satisfactorily. A report was also presented by W. E. Curtis who was present as a representative of the state department.

Destiny of a Printer.

CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—George Armstrong, a printer and brother-in-law of Elgin W. Hallford, private secretary of President Harrison, died yesterday morning at the Cook county poor house. Armstrong came to Chicago eight or seven years ago and secured employment on the National Laundry Journal, published by Charles D. West.

BRADLAUGH'S FUNERAL.

Facilities of the Statesman Exemplified in Simple Obsèques.

LONDON, Feb. 3.—The mortal remains of Charles Bradlaugh were laid to rest today in Woking cemetery. As he lived so was he buried. There was none of the popular demonstration which usually attends the obsequies of a man who, like Bradlaugh, had forged his way up from the ranks and made himself a power in his land. At the cemetery delegations from Northampton, which constituency the great orator had for many years represented in parliament, as well as from Bristol, Manchester and Nottingham were in attendance. There were no services of any description. It is said that outside of The Weekly National Reformer, which he had conducted for many years, the estate of the deceased will not reach $1000. His income had always been small almost as that of a day laborer, yet the same faculties which made him a master of men, and the same force of character and intellectual ability, which enabled him to reach the top steps of the ladder of English statesmanship might, had he chosen to direct them otherwise, have made him more than a millionaire a quarter of a century ago.

ITS MORAL EFFECT.

Spanish Elections Participated in by the Church.

LONDON, Feb. 3.—The moral effect of the Spanish elections would be greater but for the pressure brought to bear by the government in favor of the conservative party. This pressure was not so great in Madrid as the large cities in the provinces, where the peasantry are said to have been disgusted by the united power of church and state in support of government candidates. In numerous instances the lower classes of people who could not read had recourse to the priests for directions as to what they should do. The clergy are, without known exception, on the conservative side and strongly opposed the liberals. The effect of the Spanish election will be to silence the free trade party, which has been protesting against the increase of the tariff by the existing ministry, whose course is now confirmed by a large majority of the electors.

THE STORY ENDED.

The Long Tale of a Notable and Mysterious Crime is Told.

PARIS, Feb. 3.—Michael Eyraud, the stranger, who in July, 1889, murdered Notary Goffe in Paris, was executed by the guillotine this morning. The number of votes cast throughout the city is quite small in comparison with the registration. Up to 3 o'clock this afternoon scarcely more than half of the registered vote had been cast. There was a big falling off in the First and Fourth wards especially. The business men constituted the great majority of the voters today.

In the First ward up to forty-three votes were cast out of a possible 228 in the First district. In the Second district ninety-eight were cast out of 186 registered and in the Third seventy-nine out of eighty-five. The future of the case in this district, as it is Sorensen's own precinct. Circulars were distributed all day announcing the withdrawal of John Sorensen, the alliance candidate, in favor of Sorensen, and the result is that the latter will be elected easily over Napoleon Grignon.

In the Second ward 172 votes were cast up to 3 p. m. out of a registered vote of 317. Not over two-thirds of the full registered vote were cast. There was a great deal of hustling in the ward and even the street car men were relieved by relays of men and voted. Long that he was all sure of 110 out of the 172 votes to the cast up to 3 o'clock. Marble was of the opinion that it was a close fight. Many are writing in the name of Morris Thomas on the tickets for the short term against Lemieux. The LaVague split up of the republicans in the Second ward makes the result doubtful.

In the Third ward The First district up to 3 had cast 157 votes out of a registered vote of 433. The Second district voted 185 out of 338 votes registered; the Third district 170 out of 344 registered; the Fourth district 150 out of 333 registered.

In the Third ward the fight was said to be close between Thomas and Lemieux, the alliance candidate, with Hugo next and Capt. Norris in the rear. Without doubt the closest fight will be in this ward.

Fourth ward—In the First district up to 2:30, 169 votes were cast out of 419; in the Second district 170 out of 403 registered; in the Third 163 out of 347 registered; in the Fourth 135 out of 355 registered.

In this ward the general sentiment was that Weiss was leading with Mannheim was a close second. Mannheim claimed 100 votes out of the 135 cast in Fourth district, and Weiss 35.

In the west end a larger vote was cast in proportion to the registered number. More interest was also taken. The reported the English race considerably ahead in the Fifth ward, and that in the Sixth the run between him and Weiss was more nearly even. Nothing could be learned as regards the vote of the French and the English.

The Light, however, between Haskins, Kennedy and Hanson will be close with but little betting odds on any of them. The English race considerably ahead in the Fifth ward, and that in the Sixth the run between him and Weiss was more nearly even. Nothing could be learned as regards the vote of the French and the English.

In the Fifth ward, First district, 201 votes were cast up to 3 p. m. out of 234 registered; in the Second, 150 out of 234; in the Third, 215 out of 233.

In the Sixth ward, First precinct, 200 votes were cast up to 3 p. m. out of 312, and 182 out of 232 in the Second.

The total vote up to time of Herald's returns were 2736 out of a registration of 5154. About 3000 votes will probably be the total cast for the day.

WENT FURTHER WEST.

After Squeaking as Many Dollars as Possible Out of the Victims.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 3.—Five hundred subscribers to the Orleans Watch and Jewelry company, a branch of the Chicago concern of the same name, mourn the loss of their subscriptions. The concern has been doing a land office business for nearly a year under the watch club plan. Jan. 1 a man named E. B. Rogers, came here from Chicago and took charge of the business, which continued to thrive. A few days ago J. C. Ashton came from Chicago and had a number of conferences with Rogers.

Yesterday the unsuspecting subscribers paid in their usual weekly installment of $1 each. In the silent watches of the night Rogers, assisted by a carefully gathered all the stock on hand and departed for parts unknown. When the establishment was opened this morning the only thing left behind was a note on the desk bearing the cheering inscription, "We have gone further West." The subscribers lose about $10,000.

TODAY'S CITY ELECTION.

A Light Vote in Most of the Seventeenth Precincts.

TOTAL VOTE POLLED UP TO 3 O'CLOCK.

Sharp-Drawn Lines Over the City Treasurership and on Several Aldermen.

The election today is proceeding quietly and the vote, as a general thing, is light. Certain wards show a better share of the full vote than others, according to reports received by The Herald up to 3 o'clock, and in several the fight is sharp. Notably is this the case in the Second, Fourth and Fifth wards. At the west end the fight is chiefly on the treasurership, and the vote for F. L. Engberg is very large. It is generally understood, though because of the system of secret voting it is impossible to tell closely, that Engberg will come up from the west end with a very large vote. While Fred Voss and his friends appear confident they evidently fear the straight republican vote and doubt whether enough scratching will be done to beat the Scandinavians. The voters are afraid that Engberg will have following enough in their party to smash it as an important factor not only now but in the future. But little doubt is expressed of Ten Brook's election as comptroller.

The aldermanic ticket is: First ward, Martin Sorenson, democrat; John Meers, alliance; Napoleon Grignon, republican; Second ward, for two years—C. A. Long, republican; K. N. Marble, union; for one year—T. W. Lemieux, union; Third ward, Michael Norris, democrat; Thomas Clark, people's; Fourth ward, N. F. Hugo, alliance; N. F. Hugo, republican; Fourth ward, A. C. Weiss, democrat; Neil McLachlan, republican; J. A. Mannheim, alliance; L. Fender, independent. Fifth ward, A. M. Cox, republican and alliance; James Hart, people; Daniel W. Koch, independent. Sixth ward, C. E. Kennedy, people; Swan Hanson, republican; Ed C. Bushnell, democrat; Henry Haskins, alliance. The number of votes cast throughout the city is quite small in comparison with the registration. Up to 3 o'clock this afternoon scarcely more than half of the registered vote had been cast. There was a big falling off in the First and Fourth wards especially. The business men constituted the great majority of the voters today.

In the First ward up to forty-three votes were cast out of a possible 228 in the First district. In the Second district ninety-eight were cast out of 186 registered and in the Third seventy-nine out of eighty-five. The future of the case in this district, as it is Sorensen's own precinct. Circulars were distributed all day announcing the withdrawal of John Sorensen, the alliance candidate, in favor of Sorensen, and the result is that the latter will be elected easily over Napoleon Grignon.

In the Second ward 172 votes were cast up to 3 p. m. out of a registered vote of 317. Not over two-thirds of the full registered vote were cast. There was a great deal of hustling in the ward and even the street car men were relieved by relays of men and voted. Long that he was all sure of 110 out of the 172 votes to the cast up to 3 o'clock. Marble was of the opinion that it was a close fight. Many are writing in the name of Morris Thomas on the tickets for the short term against Lemieux. The LaVague split up of the republicans in the Second ward makes the result doubtful.

In the Third ward The First district up to 3 had cast 157 votes out of a registered vote of 4

THE VOTE IN THE CITY.

At present writing the vote cast is light in the city, in spite of the many heated rivalries in the ward contests. No election is so important to a city as its home rule election, but it is only once in a while that voters wake up to this and act upon it. For some time they have their own government in their hands and can cast it to suit themselves. If they do not make the pass of a hand to mold it, how can they complain justly of what it is under their neglect. Yet the very men who are too indifferent or too lazy to walk to the polls are the loudest and most peevish in their complaints of misgovernment.

There are exceptions, as in the case of New York, where ring rule is saddled on a city and defies the hands of reform to tear it off, but these are uncommon. As a rule a city's government is as good as the citizens deserve, for with the power in their hands to better it, they make no determined effort to mend it. We trust that Duluth will fare well today, but if so, luck will favor her more than desert. There are enough candidates to pick from but there is no certain assurance that the best will be picked, and the best are not the best in the city. While first rate men decline to serve, or are not called to serve, there will not be a first rate council. And a first-rate council is what Duluth needs as much as she needs anything.

THE ELECTION BILL BURIED.

The hope of carrying through the federal election bill, which has been growing dimmer and dimmer, is now practically extinct, though the distrustful democrats are not yet entirely satisfied that the bill has been abandoned. Senator Gorman and one or two other managers have endeavored to ascertain from the republican committee on the order of business for the senate what measures have been mapped out for consideration and whether the closure rule and elections bill have been eliminated, thus showing that they have some apprehensions that the bill might be sprung upon the senate after the other matters have been disposed of. One of the reasons why they are disturbed is that some of the republicans talk about making another effort at an opportune time, to again bring these measures before the senate. But Senators Hoar, Edmunds and Sherman have informed them that they are satisfied that a proposition to bring up these measures could not commend a majority.

If the republican managers could obtain the pledges of forty-five senators that they would stand by the bill and all the preliminary movements leading up to a vote, they would not doubt make another attempt; but as they have been unable to secure any such number, the bill is regarded as buried. The republican representatives in the senate, as a body, have kept their pledges, and the managers have worked untiringly to secure straightforward consideration of the bill and a record vote upon it. That is the way in which it should be disposed of, and the actual conclusion is lame and impotent. With it ends, too, any hope for years of fair representation in the South and justice to the North and West.

Mr. J. H. Tishnet, of this city, expatiates on Duluth and its glories in the Bruce Out, Herald, in a way to pale Proctor Knott with envy. The Duluthian is loyal to the core and it is cold day when some one of him isn't booming the city in the East.

The Herald has by far the largest circulation in the city, and every advertiser who wants to see how far money is going is invited to count the daily issue from the press. If you want to reach the people there is no place like The Herald to reach from.

The crop outlook in the Northwestern wheat district tributary to Duluth is somewhat unfavorable at present because of lack of moisture. Changes may, and doubtless will, take place before seeding, but the conditions are so shaping themselves year by year that irrigation, as a broad and liberal plan, must be a factor of the near future. Ten years of irrigation in the prairies would so change the face of the country—so cover them with trees and vegetation that rains would be plenty. The hot winds that now blow with such burning and devastating force would disappear and the Western farmer would be happy. And he won't be happy till he gets irrigation.

Does the head of the lake want to be out of the swim in the city making of the day? East and West the movement is noted of expansion by annexation. Now Cincinnati wants her population increased from 296,051 to 374,573 in this way, and there is a lively agitation for the proposition to include all the territory within ten miles of Boston in one municipal district. Shall Duluth also be cabined, cribbed, confined to her original spot?

Only four weeks remain of the fifty-first congress and not one of the thirteen regular annual appropriation bills has been finally passed by both houses of congress and sent to the President. The army bill, which went through the senate on Saturday, was the first to pass that body, but as a number of amendments were tacked to it the consummation of the house is needed, and it may be some time before it is out of agony. The prolonging of action on these bills to the end of a session, and then the huddling of them through in spite of defects, is one of the features of congress that should be cut out with a sharp knife. If it is unavoidable under present conditions of legislation, the conditions should be changed, and the sooner the better for the country.

The last words of Secretary Windom, so gravely emphasized by the fact that they are the last, have made an extraordinary impression, as we presumed, throughout the country. His plea for sound finance arrests attention even of the most reckless. We shall have bitter occasion to recall this pregnant truth if it is disregarded. "As poison in the blood permeates arteries, veins, nerves, brain and heart, and speedily brings paralysis or death, so does a de based or fluctuating currency permeate all the arteries of trade, paralyze all kinds of business, and bring disaster to all classes of people. It is as impossible for commerce to flourish with such an instrument as it is for the human body to grow strong and vigorous with a deadly poison lurking in the blood. Such a currency is bad enough in domestic trade, but it is absolutely fatal to the prosperity of foreign commerce."

OF MR. WINDOM.

Minneapolis Journal: The name of Secretary Windom is identified with the first great Northern railroad line to the Pacific coast. He was early and actively engaged in the promotion of the enterprise which finally resulted in the construction of the Northern Pacific, and that great high way of commerce—one of the most important factors in the transportation system of which he was speaking at the very hour of his death was his countrymen the fruits of his experience and thought in those matters which concern the financial welfare of the nation. Nature sustained him. He had spoken, and then, exhausted by the effort, the struggling and stricken man passed to his last rest.

Minneapolis Tribune: Secretary Windom was in many respects the ablest Minnesota of the past or present generation. He was not only a brilliant man in any particular direction, but an admirably balanced man—great in brain, great in heart, great in sagacity, great in practical application. His mind was luminous, his knowledge comprehensive, his insight keen, his judgment unerring, his executive ability unrivaled. All these qualities were controlled by a cool and equable temperament.

St. Paul News: This country has never produced a counterpart of Mr. Windom's career. He was a man of great ability, a successful political career, for whom he seemed to be entirely shelled, he appeared to be the strongest. While he was developing during his public career and proved an able man, he was not either great or brilliant. He was conservative, and it was that conservatism which unquestionably helped President Harrison to feel that he would be a safe man to place at the head of the head of the treasury department.

"HELD BY THE ENEMY."

Despite severely cold weather there was a fair house at Temple opera last night. The company played the stirring piece excellently and received much applause. Messrs. Marshall and Farrell acted as the house of the play, though the support was mainly good, most of it very good.

A WINTER LAMENT.

[Cornelia Redmond in February Outing.] Oh! mild most fair, I fall would sing To thee a song of praise on paper: For how can I, when wraps and furs Conceal from view thy waist so taper.

Thy pretty face is hidden quite By frosty thicknesses of veiling; Thy feet in rubbers, hands in mitts, Turn my fond fancies into veiling.

I'll wait till spring, when thou'lt appear In dainty little gowns and bonnet; I know that thou'lt show thy figure trim, And then I will love thee a sonnet.

Women who Make the Best Wives. Members of a Boston debating society have almost come to blows over the question, "What Women Make the Best Wives?" Culture was claimed by many to be the first essential, love and fidelity the second, and knowledge of household duties and ability to properly perform them, the third. None of the debaters, however, thought to add that very necessary qualification—health—without which a wife is far from perfection. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will renew the hue of youth in pale and sallow cheeks, correct irritating uterine diseases, arrest and cure abnormal discharges, and infuse new vitality into a wasting body. "Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. This guarantee has been printed on the bottle wrapper, and faithfully carried out for many years.

FEBRUARY'S NOTABLE MAGAZINES.

Forum opens with an argument by Senator Carlisle under the caption "The Vanishing Surplus." Professor B. L. Glider's tale of the peculiar "Formative Influence" which contributed to the building of his character. "The Next Step in Education" is discussed by President C. K. Adams. E. L. Godkin answers very interestingly, in the affirmative, the question "Was the Emancipation Practical?" "The Physical Basis of the Mind" is described by Dr. Henry Maudsley. The other contributions are as follows: "Bowlerized Biography" by Walter Lewis; "The Four Modes of Life," by Major, J. W. Powell; "An the Chinese See Us," by President W. A. P. Martin; "The Farmer's Changing Condition," by Professor Rodney Welch; "Political Progress in Japan," by Rev. Dr. W. E. Griffis; "The Government and the Indians," by Hiram Price.

Arena is a noticeably excellent issue. Its frontispiece is a portrait of Camille Flammarion, who contributes a deeply interesting astronomical article entitled "New Discoveries on the Planet Mars." The article is illustrated with a number of maps of Mars. Alfred Russell Wallace writes interestingly on the question "What are Phantasms?" The Why Do They Appear? C. Wood Davis discusses, in a strain that will please an alliance member, "The Farmer, the Indian, the Investor and the Highway." Professor Joseph Rodas Buchanan reviews sharply, "Consumption Cures and Microbes," Dr. Koch and Dr. Billings. John Welch, LL.D., contributes his opinion in regard to "The Fall of Adam," and Helen London tells of some mistakes by parents in the matter of "Morals and Fig Leaves." Frances E. Russell advances the arguments of the Red Rover under the title "Woman's Dress." The No-Name paper is a story freighted with a new idea in regard to pre-natal influence.

Magazine of American History is full of historical matter of interest. Its frontispiece is a portrait of Sir Frederick Impey Murchison. The Demand for Education in American History, occupies the leading place. There is a profusely illustrated account of the "Antiquity of Carriages," by Emanuel Spencer. The story of Sir Walter Raleigh's settlements on Roanoke island, Dr. Stephen B. Weeks, is full of interest. Rev. R. T. Cross writes on early "Explorations in Louisiana," H. E. Green of "The Pickering Manuscript" in Boston; "The French Army in the Revolution," is concluded.

In Popular Science Monthly Andrew D. White continues his "New Chapters in the Warfare of Science," and W. F. Durfee his account of "The Development of American Industries Since Columbus." Professor Huxley also adds to his views on "The Organ Question and Prehistoric Man." The illustrated papers other than that of Mr. Durfee are "Progress in Agricultural Science," by Dr. Manly Miles and "Shetland Ponies," from The Cornhill Magazine. The number also contains a portrait of the sketch of Jean-Charles Houzeau, who in versatility, variety of studies, industry, productivity, originality has been surpassed by but few men of science. New York: D. Appleton & Co.

North American Review publishes the first of a series of papers from the surviving corps-commanders who led in the battle of Gettysburg, and who revisited the field last autumn with their old companion, the count of Paris. Their impressions and recollections are prefaced by an introduction, retrospective and reminiscent, which the count himself has prepared. Justin McCarthy tells of the circumstances that led to "The Deposition of Parnell," and Speaker Reed discusses the question of obstruction and the tyranny of minorities. Other papers are: "The Talleyrand Memoirs," "Why More Girls do not Marry," "The Jamaica Exhibition," "Can Lawyers be Honest," "The Silver Question Again," "Has Christianity Failed?" "The Notes and Comments" of the number are of interest.

Cosmopolitan contains a harrowing picture by Tolstoy of the atrocities of Russian army discipline under Nicholas. This is followed by an interesting paper descriptive of "Chateaux in Touraine," by Elise Anderson de Wolfe, another of the "Memoirs of Talleyrand," by H. de Burg, and among the other articles of note are those by John L. Gildersleepe, "An Early American Princess," devoted to the life of Caroline Fraser, who married Prince Lucien Murat, and another by Thomas L. James, "The Welsh in America." There is a brief illustrated description of a Milwaukee mansion.

If There is Any One Thing

More than another which will disgust a man, it is to see his trousers begin to "bag" at the knees. Every man hates to see this, but to a fastidious man the sight is almost unbearable. Better have a crumpled shirt, or a shiny coat than "baggy" trousers. A pious observer once remarked that if men would only spend one-half the time in saying their prayers that they spent in trying to take the "kink" out of their trouser legs, heaven would be full of males.

All this time spent in fretting and turning can be avoided.

How? Every night when you remove your trousers spread them out flat from front to rear, making the front fold turn on the first suspender button, and bringing the front and rear crease in each leg together in such a way that the inner seams in the leg will lie one over the other. Then, having done this, make another fold just at the knee, and throw both legs back so that the bottom of the legs almost touch the waistband just below the buttons. Then lay the trousers away, and, if possible, place another pair upon them, or better still, a clean-surfaced board. Change as often as you can if you have several pairs, for trousers worn every day must get out of shape.

This is a sure cure for "bagging."

CHEAPER TO BE HONEST.

The Late Sioux Trouble Will Cost, in all, $2,000,000.

AN EXPENSIVE WAY OF SETTLEMENT.

Would have Cost Less Money to Have Been Honest, not to Mention Blood.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—An estimate sent to congress by the secretary of war to supply a deficiency in the quartermaster's department tells the story of the cost of the Indian campaign just closed.

The round sum of $1,300,000 is asked for the principal items of which are $305,016 for transportation of troops and supplies, and $187,702 for extra clothing, camp and garrison equipment necessary to fit out for the winter campaign; $70,000 to replace horses broken down in the campaign, and for the purchase of ponies; and $70,000 to cover the difference in cost of supplies purchased for troops in the field and the contract prices at the post from which the troops were drawn.

There were other expenses under the supply department that will probably bring the total cost of the campaign up to $2,000,000, a sum sufficient to have given the Sioux the $100,000 annual appropriation promised them for a period of twenty years.

SOME LAKE FIGURES.
Showing Something of Their Enormous Commercial Importance.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—A bulletin giving the statistics of freight traffic on the great lakes was issued by the census bureau yesterday afternoon. The chief point of interest in the exhibit is the fact that three commodities, coal, iron ore and lumber comprise 75 per cent of the total cargo tonnage of the great lakes. Adding corn to these commodities and 82 per cent of the total is accounted for, while the addition of wheat leaves scarcely 10 per cent of the total traffic.

The total cargo tonnage for the season of 1890 was 27,400,200. The average distance for which freight on the great lakes is carried is 560 miles. These figures do not include the Canadian coastwise trade.

The bulletin also says that the ton mileage of the lakes is equal to 220 per cent of the total ton mileage of the railways in the United States, which shows the relative importance of lake commerce.

The figures of receipts and shipments for the season of 1890, from some of the principal ports, are as follows: Chicago, 7,984,048 tons; Buffalo, 6,730,137; Cleveland, 3,620,570; Milwaukee, 1,435,898; Superior, 1,391,297; Duluth, 1,114,048; Detroit, 751,533; Sandusky, 602,003; Ashland, 224,742.

The Ways of Owenby.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—As soon as Mr. Owenby was discharged by the silver pool committee he was arrested by the latter on a warrant charging him with obtaining money under false pretenses. It appears that he had given a check to some person here for $1 and it was honored. Mr. Owenby told the officer that he would pay the money in a few minutes as soon as he was paid his mileage and witness fees by the committee. The officer would not consent and he is now a prisoner.

When the silver pool investigating committee met today Mr. Dingley cross-questioned Owenby as to his testimony yesterday and particularly with reference to the statement that he had intimated to Senator Culom that money could be made in silver speculation. The witness said that it was only the bare intimation that he had given Senator Culom. He did not advise the senator to buy. This conclusion was reached by the committee then adjourned until 2 p. m. tomorrow.

A Possible Rob Lincoln.

The police have found a strong chain of circumstantial evidence about Salvatore Vallo, an intimate friend of the murdered man who was the last to be seen in Sinne's company. WHAT CANADA WANTS.

Her Sensible Ideas as to New Treaty Regulations

1. Reciprocity as of 1874, with modifications and such extensions as are deemed to be in the interests of the province of Canada and the United States;
2. Reconsideration of the treaty with respect to Atlantic fisheries, with the aim of securing free admission into United States markets of Canadian fishery products, in return for Canadian access to the waters of the Atlantic and other fisheries in the Atlantic ocean and common inland waters of both nations;
3. Relaxation of seaboard coasting laws of the two countries;
4. Relaxation of the coasting laws of the two countries on the inland waters;

BISHOPS MAY INTERFERE.

Especially in Any Measure Leading to Annexation.

HALIFAX, N. S., Feb. 4.—The bishop of Antigonish recently issued a circular recommending Sir John Thompson, minister of Justice, to the electors as a fit person to represent them in the house of commons, and the liberals threatened to appeal to Rome against his interference in politics. Archbishop O'Brien has intimated the bishop's position in a letter in which he says: "Whereas it is the duty of the clergy to be united to minister to God's altar, hence should a candidate for parliament advocate, say unrestricted reciprocity, and should a priest conscientiously believe that to be the first step toward annexation, should he have good reason to believe that his province had that in view, he should not be a candidate."

Delroit Knitting Works Fall.

DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 4.—Ryan Bros., proprietors of the Home Knitting works, filed mortgages today aggregating $40,000 to secure creditors. There are other mortgages. LONDON'S WAR SCANDAL.

Machinery of the War Office Needs Some Official Repairs.

LONDON, Feb. 4.—The sensation of the day in London is the scandal in the war office. The London Times began some weeks ago calling attention to alleged defects in the magazine gun. The state-ments of the Times were denied from the war office; but that paper which evidently had inside information, kept up the attack. There has been a feeling for a long time past, not confined to liberals, that the war office needed overhauling; but no one has suggested corruption in its dealings till now.

A majority of parliament is understood to be anxious for the retirement of the duke of Cambridge from command-in-chief of the army. The duke will be 72 next month, and is thoroughly fossilized. It is understood, but for the influence of Queen Victoria, he would be removed or requested to resign.

LIBERAL STRENGTH.

The Disability Bill Shows the Strength of the Gladstonians.

LONDON, Feb. 4.—Mr. Gladstone, in the house of commons this evening, moved that the house proceed to a second reading of the bill to remove religious disability. FISHERMEN ALL SAFE.

Reliable Reports That They Reached Land in Safety.

At noon today all of the Essexville men excepting two had been heard from, and these two it is thought, have gone ashore on the Charity islands.

Albert Pratt, Jake Coon and a Frenchman, ran out of provisions Monday, and started that night for Essexville to lay in a new stock. They became lost in the snow storm and wandered about all night to find in the morning that they were cut off from shore by open water, the gap then being fourteen feet wide. The men endeavored to jump it, and Pratt and Coon succeeded, but their companion jumped short and went into the bay. He was rescued by means of a fish spear. The trio finally reached shore and got to a farm house. Their feet and hands are badly frozen.

TWO PHASES.

The Farmer as a Politician and as a Financier.

MADISON, Wis., Feb. 4.—At the annual meeting of the Wisconsin Agricultural society today, President Parkinson delivered an address on the "Farmer in Politics." He had emphatically to the belief that one of the farmer's leading duties was to be a thorough politician. He predicted that unless legislation for the masses was soon had half of the wealth of this country would be controlled by 10,000 men by the end of twenty-five years.

Spartanburg, S. C.—W. C. Zimmerman, storekeeper and agent of the farmers alliance supply store in this city, is short in his accounts from $15,000 to $20,000. One of Zimmerman's plans of operations was to open a store some distance from the regular alliance store and transfer goods to this establishment where he sold at reduced rates. Investigation reveals the rankest sort of management and startling developments are expected.

COAL MOUNTAINS BURN.

A Lurid Tale from Colorado's Western Mountains.

MILE AFTER MILE OF BURNING HILLS.

People Flee for Their Lives and the Country is Hid in Smoke.

DENVER, Col., Feb. 4.—A special correspondent who left for the New Castle coal region yesterday morning wires that hundreds of families were fleeing for their lives last night. Mile after mile and mountains of coal are on fire. The loss will reach into the millions, as mountain after mountain is burning up. The terrible heat and smoke are almost suffocating.

Those residing within a few miles of the conflagration are rapidly moving their household effects. Horses and cattle are stampeding in all directions. Railroads are running all their trains conveying passengers to a place of safety. The Colorado Midland railroad is the leading owner of the coal mountain, and is a heavy loser.

The miraculous escape of hundreds of miners is just being realized, and it seems like a kind act of providence that this morning's dispatches did not recount the death of hundreds of brave toilers. The day forces had just set the fuse and left the shaft for supper while the members of the night shift, numbering over 300, were congregating outside the shaft when the explosion occurred that started the fast-spreading flames. Had it happened ten minutes later it would have been a repetition of the Pennsylvania horror.

How much longer the fire will continue it is impossible to say. If all the fire companies in the civilized world would congregate in front of the flaming mountains it is doubtful if the flames could be subdued. The residents of Glenwood Springs, a town of 500 inhabitants thirty miles north of the scene, are preparing to seek a more congenial climate. The residents of Leadville, nearly 100 miles east of the scene of the conflagration, can plainly see the terrible scene, while the smoke is perceptible here in Denver, fully 275 miles easterly.

A Rotten Row Burns.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Feb. 4.—The New England block, commonly known as "rotten row," burned to the ground early this morning. Nearly 500 Italians, negroes and Turks lived under the roof of the block. They were all taken out alive. The loss is about $20,000.

Damage, $50,000.

Hells Works Destroyed.

BROOKLYN, Feb. 4.—The Hells Bronze and Iron works were almost completely burned out this morning. The property destroyed is valued at $550,000.

LYMPH RATHER UNCERTAIN.

Investigation as to the Merits of Koch's Remedy in Progress.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—A man died in the Bellevue hospital of consumption after a long course of treatment with the Koch lymph. The autopsy was performed, and the indications are that the lymph does not entirely destroy bacilli in tuberculosis, but drives them from the part most affected to other parts of the body. It developed that at the last the patient, who was supposed to be suffering from tuberculosis of the lungs, was found, after inoculation, to be suffering from tuberculosis of the kidneys.

The question whether lymph scatters bacilli throughout the body is now undergoing investigation. The first rational presumption is that lymph is a scabrous bacilli, but there also must be considered the fact that the man's case was hopeless from the start. It is certain the bacilli were found in his brain, kidneys, lungs and spleen. The doctors think that lymph was not the cause of the patient's death.

THE WEATHER

Colder Today Than Yesterday: Ice Cutting to West of Duluth.

Yesterday the government thermometer registered 19° below zero, and everybody thought it was cold. Today the weather clerk turned on another notch and the thermometer registered 22° below zero, and everybody is satisfied and cries enough. It was 27° below at points a few miles down the lake this morning and 26° at Port Arthur. St. Paul was 24° below this morning and all points to the south and east of us felt the full force of the cold wave. At Assiniboine, up in the Northwest, where the cold waves usually make their first bow to the public, the government report showed 28° above today. It will, therefore, be much warmer here tomorrow and Friday.

The local firms who supply ice for domestic purposes are watching the skin formed along the lake shore and for a few hundred feet out, with interest. It is thickening fast, and with a day or two of such weather as this, will be heavy enough to begin cutting. Should a storm break it up, however, it is hardly probable that it would form again, so late in the season. Cutting will begin, therefore, at the earliest possible moment.

Today has indeed been a bracing winter day, after the mild and pleasant weather the head of the lakes has been favored with thus far this season. The snow fall of Sunday and Monday, with the accompanying cold wave, has caused the loggers' fence to disappear as if by magic. With a continuous cold snap they are well fixed for snow, even if there should be no more for some weeks, and there is little danger of the fall crop of logs not being put in. For the first time this year Duluth has sleighing—just enough snow having fallen to render this mode of travel possible, though "sleazy" and hardly enjoyable as yet.

Everyone appears to look upon the change as a blessing, and the activity which depends upon seasonable weather is looked for.

The extreme penalty for attempt is ten years.

WORLD OF COMMERCE.

Cash Wheat and Futures on the Duluth Market.

MONEY MARKETS IN THE EAST.

The market opened at 1/4 advance on futures. There was a fair demand for the May option in the forenoon, while prices fluctuated considerably at 1/4 to 1/2 margins. Chicago reported considerable buying on contrary orders, which was regarded as a weak feature by the old timers. The shorts began covering early, so that when later bullish news came in no one seemed to want wheat.

Bradstreet estimates the decrease in wheat for the week at 2,136,000 bu for both cents, which it over four times the estimate of regular visible decrease East of the Rocky mountains. The market weakened here in the futures in the afternoon with but little doing. May opened at $1.02 for No. 1 hard, fell off to $1.01 1/2 on the next trade, went up 1/4 to $1.01 3/4, advanced 1/4 and closed at $1.01 1/2 sellers. May 1 northern sold first at 97 1/2, advanced selling steadily at 98 and closed at 1/4 off with sellers.

Cash also had some demand in the forenoon. Cash car lots for winter delivery sold at 96 1/2, 96 and 88c and closed firm with sellers at 97c, 96 and 88c. Just before the close a lot of 20,000 bushels of cash wheat to arrive sold 96c for No. 1 northern grade. There was no dealing in February wheat which closed at 97c and 98c.

The closing prices were as follows:

No. 1 hard	Cash	Feb.	May
No. 1 Northern	97	97	101 1/2
No. 2 Northern	88	88	97 1/2

Chicago Market.

CHICAGO, Feb. 4.—Wheat started out precisely where it left off yesterday. Scalpers were doing most of the business. May started out at $1.00, sold for a moment at $1.00 1/2, and broke to 99 1/2; five minutes later it was at $1.00 again. May corn started at 53 1/2; May oats, 35c; May pork, $13.10. May lamb, $6.02 1/2, and May ribs $5.07 1/2 to $10.

The government weather and crop bulletin was bullish on wheat, but it had no apparent effect on values. Receipts at Duluth and Minneapolis were 193 cars.

Following is the close: Wheat: May, 96 1/2; July, 95 1/2. Corn: May, 53 1/2; July, 53 1/2. Oats: May, 46 1/2; July, 46 1/2. Pork: February, $9.65; May, $10.07 1/2. Lard: February, $5.72 1/2; May, $6.02 1/2 to $6.05. Ribs: February, $4.07 1/2.

An Equivalent for Suicide.

If we allow our bodily infirmities to make away with us through neglect, have we such an immense moral advantage over the deliberate suicide? Scarcely. For example, the deadly progress of Bright's disease, diabetes, acute nephritis and gravel is sure—often terribly swift in the catastrophe. Most people of average information know that this is the simple, unvarnished truth in regard to these widely prevalent maladies. To delay judicious medication is specially suicidal in such cases. The means of restraint is to be found in Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Give an impetus to the action of the kidneys with this safe and reliable diuretic, and the infant complaint is short at its birth of the power for evil. Allow it to grow and anticipate the worst. The Bitters which annihilates these growing troubles also eradicates dyspepsia, rheumatism, malarial and liver complaints. Appetite, sleep and vigor are also promoted by it.

THE HERALD BINDERY.

Onsets All Right.

The people who are anxious to keep Onsets in West Duluth and get a city organization are trying to raise the question of the constitutionality of the measure to separate Onsets from West Duluth and join it to Duluth.

The city attorney is of the opinion that it is by no means unconstitutional for the legislature to detach Onsets from West Duluth and join it to any other corporation—even to St. Paul, if they wish to.

Douglas County's Population.

Ashland county has 20,063 and Bayfield 7500.

Another Brewery Deal.

Several Chicago and Milwaukee Breweries are to be sold in England.

Chicago, Feb. 4.—The Post this afternoon says that some English "promoters" are now in this city arranging the preliminaries of a big brewery deal. The new company is to have a capitalization of $11,500,000, and will include the Valantine Blatz brewery at Milwaukee, the three breweries now combined in the United States Brewing company, and probably two other local breweries.

The effort to get the last mentioned concerns into the deal has made a bit in the business, and the agreement is not yet made to the satisfaction of all the parties. It is proposed to divide and let the stock in divided, leaving the control of the breweries as nearly as can be in the hands of the former owners.
